Nominee Makes First of Four Final Addresses in Maryland City as Crowds Cheer.

SAYS PROSPERITY
DUE TO G. O. P.

Declares He Once Crossed
North Sea When U-

BY W. B. BAGWELL.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Hoover Train, Cumberland, Md., November 1.—(AP)—The state of progress, of all advance in this country must be its continual prosperity, Herbert Hoover tonight told an audience that greeted him here en route to his California home to vote.

His speech here was made after he had received welcomes from crowds at stations in the border states of Maryland and West Virginia, where his special train made brief stops.
Within an hour after he had been cheered at the union station in Washington, the republican presidential candidate was greeted at Brunswick, Md., where a special stop was made in order that he might appear for a minute or two on the rear platform with Mrs. Hoover.

From Brunswick the nominee was taken into West Virginia to find at Martinsburg a throng which not only filled the space immediately around the station but was banded on a nearby hillside. The candidate shook hands with scores who pressed around his car but postponed the beginning of his rear platform speaking campaign until his train had crossed back into Maryland and reached Cumberland.

Leaving his car there, Hoover appeared in the public square near the station, where he made the first of the four addresses he will deliver on his trip across the continent. The keynote of this speech was prosperity, and upon this he based a plea for continuance of a republican administration.

Savings Increase.

"The basis of all progress, of all advance in our country, must be its continual prosperity," he said. "Prosperity at its base rests on there being a job for every man—that there shall be stable employment and advancing standards of living. It rests equally upon a stable agricultural industry."

"You will recollect that when the republican administration came into power seven and one-half years ago many millions of unemployed walked our streets, our people were discour-

W. B. BAGWELL DIES
ON LAKEWOOD CAR
ON WAY TO CHURCH

W. B. Bagwell, 76, of 178 Alexander street, died suddenly about 7:45 o'clock Thursday night while en route to church on a Lakewood street car, as it neared the intersection of Pryor and Mitchell streets. Mr. Bagwell was with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. E.
Bagwell, and it is believed that he suffered an attack of acute indigestion.
He collapsed in his seat and died before medical aid could be summoned.

His body was removed to the Autry & Lowndes funeral chapel, where an inquest will be held during the day.
Mr. Bagwell is survived by five daughters, Mrs. M. A. Gunter, of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. H. G. King, of Atlanta; Mrs. C. H. Holbrook, and Mrs. J. S. Fagan, both of Cummings, and Miss C. M. Bagwell, of Chamblee, and five sons, J. A. Bagwell, of Cummings; E. A. Bagwell, of Alpharetta; R. N. Bagwell, of Brookhaven, and G. L. and E. E. Bagwell, both of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Sweeping Victory
Forecast for Smith
After Jersey Tour

"It's in the Air," Declares
Governor in Familiar Surroundings of New York.

SPEAKS TONIGHT
FROM BROOKLYN

Nominee Talks to Groups of Naturalized Citizens and Members of Smith College League.

BY WALTER CHAMBLIN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
New York, November 1.—With election day almost at hand, Governor Alfred E. Smith is confident that the succession of crowds which have cheered him from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky mountains can mean but one thing—victory.

"It is in the air," were the words
he used today in discussing with press correspondents the many ovations he has received during the campaign.
"Were you over in Jersey last night," the democratic nominee asked the correspondent who had brought this question and receiving an affirmative answer, he added:

"It's in the air," Says Smith.
"There was something doing over there, wasn't there? It's in the air.
It is the same all over."

The governor's conference with the press was one of several interruptions in a day spent behind the closed doors of his suite in the Hotel Biltmore preparing the last three speeches to be delivered. One of these will be delivered in Brooklyn tomorrow night as a climax to a day's program which includes a parade up Broadway between New York's towering skyscrapers. The route of the nominee also will carry him over a part of Fifth

Dixie in Smith
Column, Says
C. H. Candler

Hoover Friends Have Mis-judged Southern People, States Capitalist.

New York, November 1.—(AP)— Charles Howard Candler, Atlanta, capitalist, in a statement made public by democratic national headquarters, predicted today that Herbert Hoover would not carry a single southern state. The statement follows:

Futile attempts of enemies of Governor Smith to link him with the grat of a few dishonest Tammany members of a generation ago revolts the average American citizen. This particular campaign of Tammany hatred being conducted in the south is apparently on the theory that there is an inborn hatred of Tammany in Dixie.

There are few who will forget that Tammany upheld the liberty of the south to beat the force bills and saved the south from federal rule at the bayonet point.
Hoover friends who have shouted Tammany bogey into southern ears have misjudged the southern people and are wholly ignorant of southern history. Skeletons of sins of a generation ago have been dragged before the public in a mad effort to create, an issue because Governor Smith's opponents find nothing in the man or his record save courage and plain dealing.

The south will answer the attack on Smith by returning to him a long column of states as usual.

$1,000,000 BONDS
WILL BE SOUGHT FOR GRADY TODAY

Vote Is Placed in General Election December
5; All Other Proposals
Are Turned Down.

City council this afternoon will be asked to approve a $1,000,000 bond issue for improvements for Grady hospital and place the proposal on the ballot to be decided in the general election December 5. The session will start at 3 o'clock.

Members of a special councilmanic committee appointed Wednesday at a special session of council to investigate the feasibility of adding other projects to the hospital proposal unanimously recommended that the $1,000-000 measure be the only one to be offered to the voters in the election.
Another general bond issue will be offered about March, 1929, and at the same time a proposed tax increase also will be up for consideration.

Action of the committee headed by Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, was taken Thursday afternoon after various interests had appeared before the committee and presented the claims of the departments to additional funds.

Other Pleas Made.

George W. Powell, president of the Atlanta board of education, headed a group of administrators on officials from that body; Walter Hall, of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, appeared in behalf of Battle Hill; representatives of the Albert Steiner Cancer clinic pleaded for $200,000 for that ward.
Mr. York, Alderman G. Everett Mil-lican, of the tenth ward, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of city council; Dr. P. L. Moon, alderman from the second ward; Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, and others stressed the importance of pushing the $1-000,000 project to completion in the interests of the sick people of Atlanta and to relieve actual suffering.

ANTI-SMITH GROUP TO RALLY TONIGHT

Final Grand Gathering at Auditorium Will Be Addressed by Mrs. Mary Armor and Others.

Forces of the anti-Smith party will gather tonight at the auditorium for the final grand rally in behalf of the candidate of Herbert Hoover, republican rival of Governor Alfred E.
Smith, democratic nominee, for the presidency. The program will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Barry Wright, state head of the anti-Smith forces; Judge W. A. Covington, ex-legislator and pioneer in the fight for prohibition; Hooper Alexander, editor of "The Democrat," an anti-Smith weekly, and democratic nominee for the legislature from the Knox county; and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, national figure in the W. C.
T. U. fight for prohibition enforcement, and a member of the anti-Smith electoral ticket, will be the principal speakers at the rally.

Ministers on Stage.

Two hundred Protestant ministers and their wives have been extended invitations to sit upon the stage during the rally, it was announced by Charles W. Outlaw, who is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.
George P. Whitman, president of the Fulton county anti-Smith club, will preside. The meeting is being held under the joint auspices of the anti-Smith club and the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Mr. Outlaw said.

Although the rally is in the nature of a meeting of the anti-Smith club, anti-Smith club, sympathizers from other counties which adjoint Fulton are invited to attend, Mr. Outlaw said.
"The general public is welcome to attend," he said. "We expect to put on the biggest anti-Smith rally of the campaign, as this will be the final big meeting of our forces before the election."

Band to Play.

There will be band music for the entertainment of the crowd, it was announced.

The campaign of the anti-Smith democrats recently included an address in Atlanta by Senator Thomas J. Heflin, of Alabama, who is campaigning for Hoover, Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, spoke in Atlanta several weeks ago under the auspices of the anti-Smith forces.

Mr. Outlaw said that the doors of the auditorium will open at 6 o'clock tonight, although the speaking program will not start until 7:30 o'clock.

G. O. P. FEARS FARMER VOTE, STATES GEORGE

Georgia Senator Asserts Agricultural Relief Is Dominant Issue in National Campaign.

DEMOCRATS URGED TO STICK TO PARTY

Speaker Tells Big Audience in Marietta Smith Will Carry Georgia by 40,000 Majority.

BY PAUL STEVENSON,
Staff Correspondent.

Marietta, Ga., November 1.—(Special).—Farm relief is the big issue between the democrats and republicans in the present national campaign, and it is the issue which rises like a specter to frighten the already frightened republicans in every agricultural state in the union, according to United States Senator Walter F. George in a speech delivered in Marietta Thursday night before one of the largest, if not the largest, crowd that ever packed the Cobb county courthouse.

"And if Hoover and Curtis, in eleventh hour statements, promise the farmers that they will give them immediate relief if elected they should not be sent to the white house, but should be put in the common jails of the land for having denied the farmer
this relief during the last eight years they have been dominant factors in the republican party," Senator George said.

Makes Powerful Plea.

The junior senator from Georgia, with a voice weakened by a 40-day speaking tour, made a powerful plea to Cobb county citizens to stand by the democratic party, no matter who its leaders may be and to go to the polls Tuesday and put Cobb county
"in the roll of honor" of Georgia counties that are going to turn out great in majorities for the democratic ticket.

"If Governor Al Smith loses this race it will be due to the defection of democrats," Senator George declared.
"There is no doubt that Governor Smith has won large hosts of liberal republican votes, progressive republican votes and independent votes," he said. "He has gained enough votes in these fields to win this race if the democrats will only stand by him and by their own party. I predict that Georgia will be found safely democratic after the Tuesday election by a majority that will not fall below 40-000 votes."

Compares Party.

"Are you going to lie down with Ben Davis, Mamie Williams, Mellon, Vare, Daugherty, Forbes and that band of traitors who are going to the polls and join hands with all the democratic senators in the south with two exceptions; nearly all the democratic congressmen from the south, the democratic governors and the democratic legislators of the south, with Senator Sheppard, author of the prohibition bill, with Carter Glass, who Josephus Dixie, with Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and the daughter of Woodrow Wilson and with the daughter of William Jennings Bryan?"

Senator George ridiculed the republicanism of Herbert Hoover, declaring that eight years ago he was looked on

CHEMIST TO PROBE
CHILDREN'S DEATHS

Three Die in Week Mother Says Suiitor Asked Her To Put Them in Orphans' Home.

Macon, Ga., November 1.—(AP)—A post-mortem examination of the bodies of Woodrow Wilson Young, 12, and J. T. Young, 7, both of whom died within two days, was ordered by a Bibb county coroner's jury late today following an investigation of nearly three hours. Should that fail to show traces of suspected poison, it was said, a chemical analysis of the contents of the stomachs will be ordered.

In the meantime, D. W. (Butch) Parks, 48, said to have been residing at the home of Mrs. Mattie Tom Young, 36, mother of the children, for the last six months, is being held in the Bibb county jail. Mrs. Young, arrested at the same time as Parks late Wednesday afternoon, was ordered released late today by Solicitor Charles H. Garrett following coroner's investigation.

The two young boys died only a short time following the death of Thelma Young, 10, on October 26.
The three children, it developed at the inquest, contracted a similar illness

HARSH TAKEN TO HOSPITAL AND EXAMINED FOUR HOURS
BY ATLANTA PSYCHIATRISTS

Harsh, Manacled, Goes Back to Tower

George R. Harsh, confessed slayer of Willard Smith and S. H. Meeks, is seen in the above picture with handcuffs on his wrists as he emerged from Dr. Eskridge's sanatorium Thursday afternoon, following a series of mental tests. The men grouped around Harsh, who is in the center, are Deputy Sheriffs J. E. Nelms, front left; Gordon Hardy, front right; John Hopkins, behind Nelms, and Jim White, in back of and to the left of Harsh. Harsh was manacled for the first time since his apprehension.

ESPIONAGE IN PEN SCORED BY GEORGE

Georgia Solon, on Way to Marietta, Reiterates Demands for Prison Records in "Hanson" Case.

Reiterating his demand that the department of justice make public the records of a prisoner by the name of "Peter Hanson" sent up from Detroit, and declaring that the congress of the United States will never tolerate an espionage system in any department of the national government, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, arrived in Atlanta Thursday night en route to Marietta, where he delivered an address last night in behalf of the candidate of Governor Alfred E.
Smith.

Attaches of the department have ac-knowledgeed receipt of Senator George's telegraphed demand to Attorney General John Sargent that the records in the case be made public in order that the people may know whether a federal agent was planted in the Atlanta federal penitentiary under the guise of a convict to make confidential reports to authorities at Washington.

Planting of Larsen.

Senator George's action was predicted on an expose of the planting in the institution of a William Larsen, department of justice agent, under the name of "Peter Hanson." The "prisoner" was sent up on a commitment from Detroit for a year and a day on charges of having violated the national prohibition laws, according to records of the commitment. No record of the trial or conviction of the prisoner was ever found in Detroit, however, although representatives of The Constitution made a diligent search for them.

"If such a practice has been introduced, it is un-American, borders on czarism and will never be tolerated by the congress of the United States," Senator George said Thursday night on his arrival in Atlanta. "If this custom has been inaugurated, then the people of America should be told of it. I cannot see how any self-re-

SMITH LANDSLIDE
SEEN BY TERRELL

Judge Says All Counties in Fourth Georgia District Will Give Democrats Majorities.

All the ten counties of the fourth congressional district will give safe majorities to the Smith-Robinson ticket in the general election Tuesday and the race between democrats and republicans in Georgia will not even be close, but will be a landslide for the democrats, in the opinion of Judge J. Render Terrell, of Greenville, who was a caller at state headquarters of the democrats Thursday.

Judge Terrell recently was elected to the state senate and is a candidate for the presidency of that body.
He is one of the most prominent democratic leaders in middle Georgia.

Judge Terrell's statement is as follows:

"In my personal contact with the people, not only in my immediate section, but throughout the state, I think

ATKINSON URGES
CHEST'S SUCCESS

Organization President Tells Junior Chamber That Responsibility Cannot Be Dodged.

Success in the approaching Community Chest drive is vital to the future of Atlanta, H. M. Atkinson, president of the chest organization and chairman of the board of the Georgia Power company, told members of the junior chamber of commerce at their weekly luncheon Thursday.

"The responsibility can not be dodged," Mr. Atkinson said. "Atlanta has its unfortunate and will always have them to care for. The duty is ours, as citizens, to provide the necessary assistance. This can best be done through the Community Chest, the only efficient method of raising the funds which are later distributed through 38 institutions."

Mr. Atkinson, who was principal speaker at the luncheon, paid tribute to the men and women who have worked on previous campaigns and urged those present to assist this year.

Reorganization Made.

"Changes have been made which will bring the Community Chest into closer contact with the people," Mr.
Atkinson said. "I have felt in the past that certain improvements might wisely be made and we have effected a reorganization which will put the chest on a real business basis. The board of directors has been increased from 25 to 100, of whom 35 are representatives of the charitable institutions and the rest chosen from the city at large."

Overhead expenses of the Community Chest, Mr. Atkinson added, have been cut 40 per cent.

MANACLED YOUTH
TAKEN FROM CELL
ON JUDGE'S ORDER

Confessed Killer Is Questioned in Detail About His Earlier Life by Dr.
Frank Eskridge.

X-RAY PICTURES
MADE BY DOCTORS

Results of Examination
Will Not Be Made Known Until Report Has Been Made to Defense.

That an insanity plea will be the defense of George R. Harsh, confessed collegiate thrill-slayer, as well as his alleged accomplice, Dick Gallogly, appeared certain Thursday when the former was given a thorough physical and mental examination by Dr. Frank Eskridge, noted Atlanta alienist.

The examination, which was not concluded Thursday afternoon, though Harsh spent four hours at Dr. Eskridge's sanatorium at 722 West Peachtree street, will be resumed Saturday morning at the tower, where Harsh, with Gallogly, is being held awaiting trial for the murders of S. H. Meeks and Willard Smith now tentatively set for November 13.

Dr. Eskridge refused to make known the results of his examination, which he said was far from conclusion, too far in fact to permit him to hazard any indication of the youth's mental condition.

Handcuffed for First Time.

Harsh, guarded by four deputy sheriffs, headed by Deputy Gordon Hardy, was taken from his cell in the tower shortly after 1 o'clock. He was handcuffed for the first time since his arrest last Saturday. The order permitting him to be taken to the sanatorium was signed by Fulton Superior Judge G. H. Howard when it was explained that it would be impossible for Dr. Eskridge to move some of his needed equipment to the tower.

Upon arriving at the sanatorium Harsh immediately underwent a long questioning at the hands of Dr. Esk-ridge and his associate, Dr. Conway Hunter. The questioning pertained chiefly to his earlier life and habits, the illnesses prevalent in his family and other matters which might tend to show permanent or spasmodic illness in him.

No Accidents Reported.

No serious accidents were reported in his boyhood, it was reported, and it also was said that the boy was unable to tell of any particular illness which prevailed in his family. The cause of the death of his father, George Harsh, a Milwaukee shoe manufacturer, some years ago, young Harsh was unable to give.

Dr. Eskridge then began a long and

TRAIN ELECTRIFICATION COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Wilson Is Temporary Chairman of Body Which Will Work Out Smoke Elimination Problem.

Electrification of all trains within the fire limits of the city as a move for smoke elimination will soon be effected if the present plans of city council carry through, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Thursday appointing a committee to work out a suitable plan and report to city council.

Fred Wilson was named temporary chairman and was asked to call a meeting for organization as soon as it can be arranged. Other members of the committee include: Fred E. McDonald, architect for the new Union depot who represents the Georgia section, American Society of Civil Engineers; E. W. O'Brien, representing the Atlanta chapter, American Society of Mechanical Engineers; H. L. Wills, representing the Atlanta section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers; and James R. Bachman, representing a citizens group, and James L. Wells and Ellis B. Barrett, representing the city government.

An ordinance was introduced in council several months ago by Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, providing for electrification of railroads. The paper was referred to the bridge committee of city council for study. It was recommended at a public hearing several weeks ago that a committee be appointed to plan the movement and the action of the mayor Thursday was in response to the suggestion.

Star Riders Paired.

Chicago, November 1.—(AP)—The outstanding riders of America and Europe, Reggie McNamara, of Newark, N. J., and Gerald DeBates, of Belgium, have been teamed for Chicago's twelfth annual six-day bike races, which start November 11.

ORIENTAL SHRINE LADIES PLANNING FOR MARDI GRAS

Atlanta's own Mardi Gras will be held at the city auditorium November 15-17, it was announced Thursday by officials acting for the Atlanta branch of the Ladies Oriental Shrine of North America.

Proceeds of the affair will be devoted to defray the expenses of the national convention to be held here May 21-23.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Thursday wrote a letter commending the undertaking to the people of Atlanta and asking support for the first such occasion to be staged in the Gate City.

MADDOO'S SISTER DELIVERS SPEECH IN SMITH BEHALF

Waycross, Ga., November 1.—Mrs. Nona McDoo Foster, a sister of William G. McDoo, who served in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson and who came very near to being the democratic nominee for president in 1924, addressed a large audience in Waycross Tuesday night in favor of the candidacy of Governor Al Smith.

Mrs. Foster said that she was a Georgian and that her family for generations had been Georgians. They and she knew that the democratic party had been a friend to this state and that democratic administrations had been periods of government in the interests of all.

She paid a high tribute to Governor Smith as an honest, fearless, able, experienced public official and as one more than qualified to make a great and memorable president.

In concluding her address she asked everyone present to cast a democratic ticket on November 6 and thus to support the finer principles, ideals and traditions of the south.

Mrs. Foster was introduced by Dr. W. F. Reavis, chairman of the Ware County Democratic club. Her address preceded one by Mrs. Frank McIntyre, of Savannah.

CHICAGO WITNESS SAYS BROTHER KIDNAPED

Trial of G. O. P. Ward Leader and Others in Conspiracy Charge Halts.

Chicago, November 1.—(AP)—The trial of 16 henchmen of Morris Eller, city collector and republican boss of the twentieth ward, and his son, Judge Emanuel Eller, on conspiracy charges, ranging from vote frauds to murder in connection with last April's primary, was thrown into an uproar and halted temporarily today when a witness appeared in tears and declared her brother had been kidnaped.

The woman was Margaret Walsh, whom the state had expected to be the fourth witness in two days to identify one of the defendants as the slayer of Octavius Granady, negro politician, who opposed Morris Eller for ward committeeman in the April primaries. The Ellers also have been indicted but obtained separate trials.

Three negroes who were riding with Granady in an automobile on election day had identified Johnny Armonda as one of those who fired the shots that killed Granady and the state had announced the intention of closing its case with the testimony of one or two more witnesses.

At resumption of the trial in the afternoon, the witness, who had been introduced by Judge John M. O'Connor, trying the case, and declared her brother, Lonnie Walsh, had been kidnaped before night. The special prosecutors started an inquiry to learn if her story were true and if it was an attempt to intimidate state witnesses.

Later it was reported to the judge that Miss Walsh had been so badly frightened by threats against her that she had tried to commit suicide in the hotel rooms where she was held under guard by the state, and court was adjourned while Judge O'Connor went to the hotel to make a personal investigation.

REVISION OF LAWS REGULATING TAXI OPERATION URGED

Revision and compilation into compact form of all ordinances regulating operation of taxi cabs and other motor vehicles for hire in Atlanta was recommended Thursday afternoon at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the ordinance committee of city council. Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the fifth ward, chairman of the committee, presided at the session.

Under the new rules, independent drivers must post bonds for $10,000 with the city clerk. This applies to all those who do not operate in the position of "servants" of a parent company. The company operating in Georgia, of course, would be responsible for injury of persons by drivers of the cabs they operate.

AUGUSTA KIWANIS FAVORS ZONE PLAN FOR GEORGIA CITIES

Augusta, Ga., November 1.—(AP)—The Augusta Kiwanis club today endorsed the proposed constitutional amendment to the state constitution which would give Georgia cities authority to enact zoning ordinances. At the same time other Kiwanis clubs of the state were called upon to give out the range of policies and of the question a like endorsement.

O. A. Pounds, of Jackson, president of the Kiwanis clubs of Georgia, was notified of the action taken, and requested to place the matter before the other clubs.

Speakers here described the proposed amendment as a question "entirely out of the range of politics and of great significance to the future orderly growth of Georgia cities."

Company Defunct Embezzler Loses In His Speculation

Los Angeles, November 1.—(AP)—Speculation in stock of the now defunct Julian Petroleum corporation was declared today by the United States district attorney's office to have led Arthur V. Dudley, 24, a former teller, to embezzle $22,000 of funds of the National Bank of Commerce here.

Dudley is being held in $10,000 bail. The youth was said to have taken $8,000 from the bank, which he placed in Julian stock, gradually sinking more of the bank's funds into the securities as he attempted to recoup losses.

STRATON CHALLENGED

Power Anxious To Debate New Yorker.

A challenge to debate has been extended to the Rev. John Roach Stratton, prominent New York minister who is campaigning for Hoover, J. Montague Power, College Park evangelist, in a wire sent to Dr. Stratton, Mr. Power announced Thursday.

The telegram to Stratton follows: "Your morbid appetite for publicity inspires me to challenge you to debate upon your pathetic impotency as an ambassador of God. Perhaps I am not well known to you; but Goliath got the thrill of his bulldozing career when he met David."

ANCIENT BELLS START WORK IN VINEYARDS

Centuries-Old Custom Observed in Country Along Rhine.

Ruedesheim-On-Rhine, Germany, November 1.—(AP)—Ancient bells tolled at 8 o'clock this morning in dozens of thousand-year-old villages along the Rhine to announce the beginning of the grape picking season. Thousands of men and women, whose fathers and forefathers for centuries have been identified in some form or other with viniculture, marched out into the celebrated "winebergs," or vineyards, to pick a crop which is generally believed to be the best since the record years of 1915 and 1921.

At 5 in the afternoon, the same quaint bells which have been rung at baptisms and funerals, on the occasions of national victories and local visitations by fire and flood, again ring to give notice to the grape pickers that they must forthwith leave the vineyards.

The practice of tolling the hour for entry to and departure from the vineyards is a time-honored one, established to prevent the stealing of the precious grapes intended for the making. For several months before picking time, while the grapes ripen slowly in the autumnal sunshine, all vineyards are closed by the country constabulary. Not even the owners may enter except on special permit. Distributed all along the hillsides are rural police who watch with eagle eyes and immediately question every intruder.

State Department Closes for Funeral Of Robert Lansing

Washington, November 1.—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg ordered the state department closed today at 1 o'clock out of respect to former Secretary of State Robert Lansing, whose funeral services will be held late today at his home at 1323 Eighteenth street. Burial will take place at Brookside cemetery, Watertown, N. Y., tomorrow.

MOTHER, SON BURNED

Halloween Jack O'Lantern Held Responsible.

Mrs. Lola M. Duncan, of 539 Howard street, was burned about the hands and arms Thursday morning as she fought the flames which threatened to envelop her son Walter, aged 10, whose clothes had caught fire from a Halloween jack-o-lantern with which he had been playing. The boy's chest and arms were burned. Both were treated at Grady hospital.

Quality-- the first consideration

It is an economic principle that an article of quality grade, if fairly bought, is cheaper, and nowhere is this more strongly emphasized than in the purchase of foods.

Foods of an inferior grade are the source of many bodily ills by reason of the failure to nourish and it is said that many of our petty mental ills are traceable to the same cause.

The properly nourished body is a healthy body and unless some affliction is a factor, a healthy, happy mind goes with a healthy body, making for peace, contentment and happiness.

Do not speculate with foods—

Let's Bake a Quality Fruit Cake

Thanksgiving is less than a month away and Christmas only two. Let's start early and make the fruit cake for the boy or girl or mother or sister and make it of such materials that they will realize that each piece of fruit and every nut kernel was selected with care and is wrapped with the kindest thoughts of love and affection that the maker could put into it.

It is easy to make a good fruit cake when you have the proper ingredients, such as is contained in our Special Package of Fruit Cake Materials which contains enough of every kind of nuts and dried and crystallized fruits and necessary seasoning and flavoring to make it, by simply adding the eggs, sugar, flour and butter—mixing and baking, and we prepay parcel post charges for 300 miles.

Our Special Package Of Fruit Cake Materials
CONTAINS A SUFFICIENT AMOUNT OF Pastry Spice, Shelled Almonds, Finest Glace Citron, Royal Baking Powder, Crystallized Pineapple Slices, Crystallized Cherries, Crystallized Lemon Peel, Crystallized Orange Peel, Virginia Dare Sherry Sauce, Finest Seeded Raisins, Amalia Greek Currants, Royal Cook Book and Recipes.

For a 10-Lb. Cake, $2.99
The above list retails over our counter for $3.20.

Pastry Spice, Shelled Almonds, Glace Citron, Royal Baking Powder, Crystallized Pineapple Slices, Crystallized Cherries, Crystallized Lemon Peel, Crystallized Orange Peel, Seeded Raisins, Virginia Dare Sherry Sauce.

Package Complete, $1.59
The above list retails for $1.80 over our counter

When you bake the cake of the above materials it is essential that other ingredients be of the quality grade—also. We have them.

AUGUSTA CONFERENCE OF A. M. E. CONTINUES

Daviesboro, Ga., November 1.—(Special).—The second day's session of the Augusta, Georgia, annual conference of the A. M. E. church was held here today in Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. Rev. J. E. Reese, pastor. The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. Williams, D. D., presiding elder of the Atlanta district, and E. W. Martin, B. D., of Warren.

Rev. G. W. Walker, chief secretary of the conference, read the journal of the previous day's session, which was approved by the body.

Bishop W. A. Fountain, D. D., Ph. D., episcopal head of the A. M. E. denomination of Georgia, presided over the conference. G. C. Jones, J. H. Myers and M. H. Holmes were presented to the conference for admission.

Admonishing this class of young ministers the bishop, among other things, said: "Every man who has fallen in reports in these conferences did so because he had no vision, and because of a want of mental activity. The preacher must wake up. No excuse can be made for the pastor failing in his reports."

"Georgia is a part of the A. M. E. church, and if I can't find men to measure up to the requirements in the state I am going to get preachers wherever I can out of the state," he asserted. "Church leadership is not helping the church. We must take hold of the layman of the church and harness him for Christian usefulness. We must face the rising sun of a new day."

Leading ministers and educators of the state today praised Bishop Fountain as a race leader, a faithful churchman, educator and episcopal head of the A. M. E. church in Georgia.

The missionary work in Georgia is united in its task as never before under the general superintendency of the bishop's wife, who also is the connectional treasurer of the women's home and foreign missionary society of the A. M. E. church.

The conference is being largely attended by day and night. J. I. Johnson, Quittman; Dr. M. T. Robinson, state treasurer of the brotherhood, Savannah; J. S. Samples and J. H. Bryan, Jr., Milledgeville, addressed the body today.

Committees named today were as follows: On Sunday school, S. R. Dinkins, W. R. Brown, B. J. Curry; temperance, M. W. Webb, W. S. Wilson, A. B. Hunter; education, J. E. Reese, J. H. Kendrick, G. W. Jenkins; Bible cause, C. M. May, S. D. Adison, M. H. Pierce; state of the country, L. B. Harris, A. D. Cullins, W. T. Hicks.

Bishop W. H. Davis has given $100 toward the coming rally for education in April. Educational anniversary will be held Friday night. Speakers will be Dr. W. H. Harris, treasurer, university system; President J. C. Lawrence, Savannah; Dean G. A. Singleton, Turner Theological seminary president, and Bishop Fountain.

The missionary sermon was preached tonight by Rev. T. J. Linton.

M. E.'S CALL ELECTION LIQUOR REFERENDUM

Passage of Resolution Is Protested by Judge Williams.

Muskogee, Okla., November 1.—(AP) Rushing from the bench of the United States district court to the annual meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, here today, Judge Robert L. Williams arrived too late to argue against a resolution declaring the presidential election "a referendum on prohibition."

The resolution, pledging the church to urge all people to keep clearly in mind that the presidential election next Tuesday is in reality a referendum on prohibition, already had been adopted by a unanimous vote, along with other resolutions.

Informed while holding court that the resolution was before the conference, Judge Williams, a prominent Methodist layman, immediately returned court and hurried to the church session, where he obtained the floor.

"I come from a line of Methodists which represents 125 years of membership in the church," he said. "Until the church went into politics I al-

BANQUET PLANNED FOR EMORY WHEEL STAFF ON FRIDAY

The Emory Wheel, student publication at Emory university, will hold a banquet for members of its staff on Friday night at Emory, according to announcement by Duncan Graham, editor of the Wheel, for discussion of Wheel policies for the year. Several Atlanta newspapermen will attend the banquet.

ways believed in it, both in theory and in fact.

"I'm sorry I wasn't in the committee room when the resolution was drafted. If I had been it never would have passed."

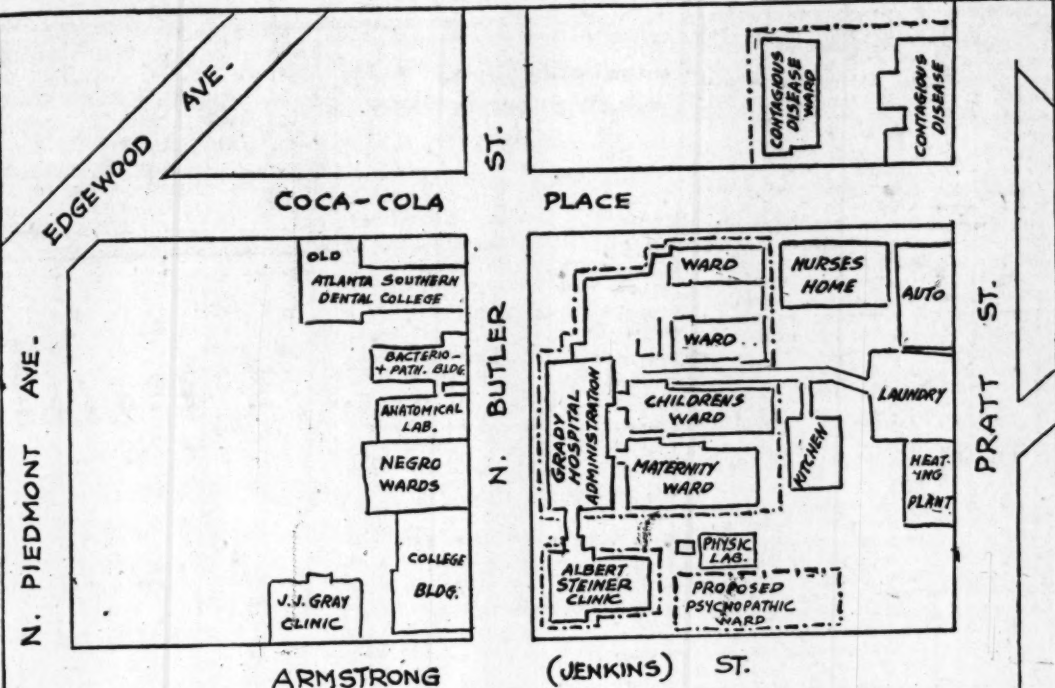

At this juncture Dr. John A. Rice, of Tulsa, editor of the Oklahoma Methodist and chairman of the resolutions committee, obtained the floor.

"I have no objection to the filing of a protest on the part of Judge Williams or any other wet," Dr. Rice said.

"I resent that term, 'wet,'" he shouted, "but I don't think the church should be made an arm of the republican party. However, if the only way I can keep my church from disgrace is to be called a wet, I am ready to bear the opprobrium."

From the church session Judge Williams returned to his office, where he began preparation of a formal protest against the conference's action.

Proposed Expansion at Grady Hospital

Artist's conception of the improvements contemplated for Grady hospital and its affiliated institutions, in the event the citizens of Atlanta vote a $1,000,000 bond issue for projected renovations, are shown in the above drawing. The white unit will be practically rebuilt; the proposed psychopathic ward probably will be located along Armstrong street just back of the Albert Steiner clinic, which also would be enlarged; the contagious disease ward enlarged and a pay ward costing approximately $300,000 constructed, because the city would be able to match a fund offered by Jacob Elsas for erection of such a ward. The negro wards also would be expanded under the plans. The layout shows the present plants and the dotted lines the probable expansions.

2 Little Girls, Found at Still, MOTHER, OUT ON BOND, NOT ALLOWED TO HAVE THEM Sent to Grandparents' Home

Two little girls, who were found with their mother in a bungalow housing a still on Mount Perrin road Wednesday afternoon, were on their way Thursday to the home of their grandparents near Dahlonega, while their mother remained in Atlanta under $2,500 bond on prohibition charges.

The grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson, who live on a farm eight miles from Dahlonega. Judge Garland Watkins of the juvenile court was told by Swift Tyler, attorney for the grandparents, Mrs. Ada Johnson, 22, mother of the children, who was released on bond from the tower Wednesday night, sought custody of the children from the juvenile court, but Judge Watkins ordered the children sent to their grandparents pending further order of the court.

Mrs. Johnson's testimony before Judge Watkins consisted principally of the reply: "I don't know," to questions put by the judge. She said that she did not know the name of the town where she lived near Birmingham, prior to removal to Atlanta, nor did she know her husband's occupation, although she amended this by stating, "That's it" when Judge Watkins asked if her husband was a farmer. Mrs. Johnson told the court that there were some other people living in the Mount Perrin road house but that she did not know their names.

Mrs. Johnson and the two children, Katie, 2, and Lila, 6, were found in the bungalow when county officers raided the house Wednesday afternoon and discovered a large "steamer" distilling outfit. The two children were neatly dressed and evidently well trained, while their mother appeared to be a woman with a background of culture. She told Judge Watkins that she last saw her husband about a week ago. Attorney Audley Lane represented Mrs. Johnson at the juvenile court hearing.

$1,000,000 BONDS SOUGHT FOR GRADY

perintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, told of the physical condition of the schools, which he described as very bad.

"It will take at least $50,000 to renovate the plumbing and sewers of the older schools of the system," Mr. Ritchie said. "This need is paramount. It is in the interest of the health of the students themselves. Every one of the old schools need repairs and painting. We cannot do it on the funds we are getting. The condition is so acute that in some places we are barely able to keep the schools open."

Tells of Congestion.

H. Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of junior and senior high schools, told of the congestion of the Boys' and Tech High schools, declaring that Dr. J. S. Stewart, head of the accredited schools of Georgia, had warned administration officials here that unless some relief measures are offered by January 1 both institutions will be taken from the accredited list.

"We are just feeling the effects of establishment of the junior high schools in the high schools," Mr. Hunter said. "Registration has increased in all the high schools as a result of the promotions. No provision has been made to house the additional students at either the Boys' or Tech High schools except by erection of portables. Seventeen classes are held in the portables at the two schools."

"With approach of winter weather, there is an actual physical danger to the students from this arrangement. Something should be done at once to relieve the class congestion to prevent the schools from losing their standing among the accredited schools of the state."

M. E. Coleman, head of the statistics and attendance bureau, cited figures to show the marked increase in the schools since the bond issue of 1926 was approved. There are at this time 55,000 students enrolled.

"There has been an increase of 2,400 in senior high schools; 1,200 in junior high schools and more than 700 in the elementary schools since the 1926 bond issue was authorized," Mr. Coleman said.

Plea for Battle Hill.

"I want to call attention of this committee to the fact that citizens of Atlanta will not be fully protected unless some provision is made to properly house in fireproof buildings the Battle Hill sanitarium," Mr. Hill said. "I also believe it will strengthen the chances for passing the bonds."

"This $1,000,000 for Grady hospital is an emergency measure and should be given the right-of-way over every other improvement," Mr. York said. "I realize that other matters are important, but just as we give an ambulance the right-of-way traffic to relieve the stricken, we should give this proposal the right-of-way in the matter of raising finances to meet the emergency. An acute situation exists at Grady hospital."

"Through no fault of the hospitals and charities committee, the institution has been attempting to carry a five-ton load on a two-ton truck. It can't be done. We must do something to relieve the situation. We have talked to administration officials of Battle Hill and propose to include a sufficient appropriation for that institution in the next issue."

Needs of Hospital.

"Establishment of a maternity ward with proper facilities for handling the cases is one of the prime needs of Grady today," Alderman Millican said in outlining the plan of improvement planned for the institution. "Two months ago there were 99 births. We have only 20 beds. The delivery rooms are entirely inadequate. Sometimes there are two or three patients in the same room at the same time."

"This situation is almost intolerable. We must do something about it. Grady is a firetrap. If a fire should break out, patients would be cremated before they could be removed. There are 175 cases on the waiting list awaiting extraction of tonsils. All this is not because the attaches and personnel of the institution are not performing their duty as well as is humanly possible under the circumstances, but because of lack of bed space and facilities."

"We should establish the mental ward. The city has acquired property and an old building which needs renovation. It will cost approximately $30,000 to put it in first-class condition. It would offer adequate housing space for the contagious disease ward and the proposed psychopathic addition, if properly fitted."

Dr. Moon stressed the importance of adequate provision for the relief of suffering among the poorer classes of the city.

Committee Recommendation.

The formal recommendation of the committee which will be offered to council this afternoon by Mr. York in the name of the committee follows: To the Honorable Mayor and General Council, City of Atlanta, Georgia:

We, the committee appointed to investigate proposals for a general bond issue, and in which was to be included a $1,000,000 bond issue for Grady hospital, after a thorough investigation of which various interests of the city government were submitted, respectfully offer the following report:

1. That a bond issue of $1,000,000 for Grady hospital be asked in the general election to be held December 5, the money to be divided as follows:

$100,000 for the city's part for the erection of a $200,000 Jacob Elsas pay ward.

$75,000 for additions to the Steiner Cancer clinic.

The remainder for a new unit and general expansion of Grady hospital for all departments, to include a psychopathic ward, modern maternity facilities, and other branches of the service.

2. We further recommend that a general bond issue be submitted to the voters of Atlanta to care for all other needs of the city, including school facilities, a new police department, park development, expansion of Battle Hill sanitarium, a new auditorium, sewer development, etc., in the spring of 1929; and that a method of retiring said bonds by setting up interest and sinking funds without interference with annual operation expenses and capital outlay of the city government be worked out.

3. That the findings of this committee be submitted to the people for ratification in the December 5 election without incurring thereon any additional tax, which may be reliably informed would force a tax raise at this time.

Committee: HARRY YORK, Chairman; HOWARD C. MCCUTCHEON, J. A. SAUNDERS.

speaking or competent warden would work under such conditions.

"Department officials should select competent wardens and permit them to discharge the duties of the office without the fear that every man they admit may be a governmental official sent there to spy on them. The situation, if true, seems intolerable. I am amazed at the story, and I want to say again that congress will never sanction such a procedure."

Attorney General Sargent is not in Washington, and according to the message of acknowledgment, it will be held for "his personal attention since the matter is of such importance," according to Senator George. Mr. Sargent will not return to the capital until after the presidential election, November 6.

BAG CONTAINING $2,000 DISAPPEARS ON TRIP TO BANK

Police officials are working on several clues which they hope will lead to the arrest of the party or parties responsible for the theft of a bag containing about $2,000 from Morris Srochri, a messenger for the Atlanta Baking company, Thursday morning. Srochri was making a trip from the offices of the company to a downtown bank, officials of the company stated, and the money and securities were in a bag which the messenger said he had placed in the car with several other packages.

The bag disappeared sometime during the course of the trip downtown.

PAIR ELOPED IN 1912 WERE WED RECENTLY

News of Wedding Recalls
Sensation of 16 Years Ago.

San Francisco, November 1.—(AP)—The recent marriage of Major Jordan Lawrence Mott III, author and heir to the Mott Iron Works millions, to Mrs. Frances Hewitt Browne, with whom he eloped from New York in 1912, was announced here last night.

Major Mott, who for some time has been living at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, said that Mrs. Browne and he were married in Mercer, Cal. Mrs. Browne formerly was the wife of Walter Browne, millionaire manufacturer, and once was widely known as a singer under the name of Francis Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Browne were legally separated about eight years ago, but it was only about a year ago that the first Mrs. Mott, a daughter of Charles A. Pitkin, of Braintree, Mass., consented to a divorce, thus removing the

MRS. C. W. JOHNSON, I. E. GARRETT SPEAK AT LEE ST. RALLY

I. E. Garrett and Mrs. Chester W. Johnson, president of West End Woman's club, were principal speakers at a democratic rally held Thursday night at the Lee Street school auditorium. Eb T. Williams presided at the meeting which lasted more than three hours.

More than 500 persons attended the rally, which was opened by two popular numbers, "East Side, West Side" and "Mississippi Mud," given by Gloria Matthews and Reid Vaughn. It was one of the most spirited political rallies held in West End during the present national campaign.

Legal barrier to Major Mott marrying Mrs. Browne.

Mott and Mrs. Browne shipped aboard a tramp steamer as a steward and stewardess in order to elude pursuers when they left New York in 1912. In Japan, Mott was decorated with the order of the Rising Sun for his services to the imperial government, but later, as editor of a monthly magazine, he sponsored editorials which incurred the displeasures of the Japanese regime.

NEW YORK K. K. K. BRAND SUPPORTER OF GOVERNOR SMITH

New York, November 1.—(AP)—A man identified by the police as Frank Kirkpatrick, of Germantown, Pa., was found tonight near an old reservoir in the Bronx, his arms and legs tied and with brandings on his chest, arms and legs. The police report described the brandings as representing the insignia "K. K. K."

Stuffed in Kirkpatrick's mouth, apparently as a gag, was a pamphlet ostensibly on the subject of Governor Alfred E. Smith and his connection with the Catholic church.

The injured man was taken to a hospital, where his condition was reported critical.

Kirkpatrick was found by two passersby who saw a crouching form moving inside the fence bordering the old Jerome park reservoir at 18th street and Jerome avenue. His hands tied behind him and his feet bound, Kirkpatrick, bleeding from wounds, was trying to crawl toward the fence. Police said the letters "K. K. K." had been cut about a quarter of an inch deep in Kirkpatrick's chest, arms and legs, probably with a penknife. At the hospital it was reported Kirkpatrick also was suffering from exposure and from concussion of the brain caused by a blow on the head.

Police said the pamphlet which was stuffed in Kirkpatrick's mouth was entitled "Intolerance, by an Intolerant."

Kirkpatrick was said to be a real estate broker in Germantown.

MASKED BURGLARS SLAY MERCHANT; ROB HIM OF $2,000

Wilkesbarre, Pa., November 1.—(AP)—A. J. Kauffer, 48, Plasterburgh merchant, was shot to death in his bedroom early today by masked burglars who escaped with $2,000 in cash and checks which the victim had secreted in his bed.

When Kauffer resisted efforts of the men to search his place they fired two shots into his body and ransacked the bed while Kauffer's wife and six children covered in fear in the next room.

aged and apprehensive of the future. The first work of that administration was to restore their confidence in the future. A series of constructive acts not only restored employment but has built standards of living and added security to every home.

"We have gained enormously in national wealth. There has been a wide diffusion of that wealth amongst our people. The combined increase in assets of life and industrial insurance, building and loan associations and savings deposits here in seven years increased by nearly 10 per cent to the gigantic sum of over 50 billions of dollars, or nearly one-sixth of our whole national wealth. These are the savings banks of the average man.

"More of our people own their own homes today than seven years ago and they are better homes. And in addition to these larger savings, our people are steadily increasing their spending for higher standards of living. The job of every man and woman has been made more secure. We have decreased poverty until we are within hope that it shall be abolished from America.

More School Money.

"Springing from our prosperity with its greater freedom, its greater resources for scientific research we have decreased illness and suffering and lengthened the average life.

"From our increasing resources we have doubled and expended upon our educational system in eight years, although we have increased in population but 10 per cent. From our greater income and thus our ability to free youth from toil, we have increased the attendance in our schools by 14 per cent, in our high schools by 80 per cent, and in our institutions of higher learning by 95 per cent. Not all of our industries have kept pace with the front rank and it is the duty of the government to build them up with every resource in its power.

"I cannot believe that the American people wish to abandon those policies of government which have been maintained by the republican party and without which results so amazing and so stimulating to the spiritual as well as to the material advance of the nation would not have been possible.

"Economic advancement is not an end of itself. Successful democracy rests wholly upon the moral and spiritual quality of its people. Material prosperity and moral progress must march together if we would make the United States that commonwealth so grandly conceived by its founders. Our government, to match the expectations of our people, must have constant regard for those human values that give dignity and nobility to life.

Thanks Train Crew.

"The republican party has given an administration which protected and upheld these results. I am confident that the American people wish it continued."

Before the welcoming cheers had died away, Gerald L. Tait, chairman of the Maryland state republican committee, was addressing the throng as "Fellow citizens, republicans, democrats, progressives and independents." He presented Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of Maryland, who introduced Hoover "as the next president of the United States."

There was a roar from the crowd as the nominee stepped to the microphone. Preliminary to his prepared address he thanked the Marylanders for their greeting.

"I do wish to express my appreciation of this fine evidence of your generosity and this touching recognition," he said, adding that he saw in the crowd some members of the train crew and some other railroad men.

"I think I ought to tell them I am grateful to them," he said. "During the past seven and a half years since I took office I have made the round-trip back and forth to my home in California more than ten times. I made my first trip from Iowa to Oregon 44 years ago and for the last 25 years I have crossed as often, some times, as two and three times a year.

Once in Danger.

"I have come to think of this strip of railroad across the middle of America as my own main street, on which I made my journeys from my office to my own front gate, and of these railroad towns where the crews change as neighborly landmarks, my homeward going and coming.

"Few persons are so much indebted to railroads and ship crews as an I. In all these years I have never seen a wreck or an accident. I am the living evidence of the care and responsibility of trainmen."

Deviating here from his text, Hoover for the first time in the campaign related a personal experience to emphasize this point.

"The closest I ever came to an accident was during the world war while I was working in Belgium," he said. "I was crossing the North sea on a boat on which I had crossed a number of times. The steward ordered that a person on the last occasion at the time they were served, but waited until the passage had been completed before asking payment. To my surprise on this particular trip after breakfast the first morning out he asked me to pay for my meal. When I expressed surprise he explained that while my credit was still good 11 out of the 12 vessels of that line had been torpedoed or mined. He himself had been rescued from several of these ships and on the last occasion many of the passengers had been drowned leaving him with $30 still due him."

Woman's Tip Gave Officers First Clue in 'Thrill' Case

MRS. WALTER CHESHIRE AIDED LOWE

The first clue which eventually led Detective John Lowe to the successful conclusion of an exhaustive and tedious search for the slayer of Willard Smith and S. H. Meeks came from Mrs. Walter H. Cheshire, of Cheshire Bridge road, widow of the late captain of county police, it was revealed Thursday.

It was Mrs. Cheshire who "started the ball rolling" for the persevering city detective, as from her came the first tip that a student was involved in the slaying of Smith, and that the wounded student had obtained medical treatment while at the apartment of "a man named Wright, a bachelor."

Mrs. Cheshire Thursday night, reluctant to have her name given publicity in the matter, finally admitted that she gave the first tip to the detective's office by informing Solicitor-General John A. Boykin's office of what she had heard.

Mrs. Cheshire said that she told the solicitor's office that she had been informed by a friend that the bandit who had shot Willard Smith was a college student, although she named another college than Oglethorpe, where Harsh was registered. This student, she told the authorities, went to a medical student at Emory university the night he was shot, but the medical student refused to treat him.

He then went to Wright's apartment and a physician was called in to treat the wound. Mrs. Cheshire told the solicitor's office. The only identification she had as to Wright was that he was a bachelor and lived in an apartment, and she had heard that the student had remained at Wright's for four days, she told the solicitor's office. Mrs. Cheshire said that she had been told that the student had gone out for a thrill and had been shot while attempting to rob the drug store at which Smith was employed.

The solicitor's office turned the information over to Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, and Detective Lowe went out to interview Mrs. Cheshire. At that time Mrs. Cheshire was told by Lowe that her information was the most valuable he had received, she said. Mrs. Cheshire said she felt it was her duty as a citizen to give the information to the authorities, especially as her late husband had been an officer.

Detective Lowe solved the identity of the bandit who shot Smith, and effected the arrest of George R. Harsh and "Dick" Galloway, Oglethorpe students, on charges of murder in the deaths of Smith and Meeks, only after nearly a month of the most painstaking and brilliant detective work.

Armed with the clues from Mrs. Cheshire, Lowe investigated every possible angle, many times running into blank walls and retracing his steps until at last he was able to reach the point where Harsh was arrested and confessed. Lowe was congratulated on all sides for his able and efficient handling of the case, and was given all credit by his superiors for the solution of what had become the most puzzling case the police department had faced in years.

EMORY DEBATORS TO MEET HARVARD, PRINCETON IN 1929

Both Harvard and Princeton universities will send three-man debate teams to Atlanta in April, 1929, to meet a debate team from Emory university. Professor N. A. Goodyear, chairman of the Emory debate council, announced Thursday. Emory has never met any of the large eastern college teams in debate.

Negotiations carried on with various colleges by Glenn W. Rainey, veteran debater and debate secretary, have led to contracts with a number of large universities. A partial list includes University of Alabama, University of Florida, Tulane, Louisiana State, University of North Carolina, Birmingham-Southern college, Davidson college, Furman university, Duke university, Wake Forest college, Northwestern university, University of Chicago, Ohio State and Washington university at St. Louis.

The appointment was made by Editor Al Richardson, of College Park. Miss Hollingsworth was a regular contributor to the publication during her junior year. Her contribution for the first issue of the publication this year is a tale entitled "The Bronze Clock."

Before coming to Emory, Miss Hollingsworth attended Agnes Scott. While there she was a contributor to the "Agnes" literary publication. She entered Emory her junior year in the fall of 1927.

IRON, STEEL WORKERS OF GERMANY ARE OUT

225,000 Are Locked Out in Dispute Over Wage Award.

Essen, Germany, November 1.—(AP)—Iron and steel workers throughout the Rhineland and Westphalia, estimated to number 225,000, today found themselves out of jobs because industrialists declared a lockout as an answer to a wage increase awarded by the ministry of labor.

For some months wages have been an issue between the industrialists and trade unions. The workers, who had been receiving 78 pennings an hour, demanded 90. The labor arbitrator awarded 85 pennings as a compromise.

and the minister of labor declared this was binding on both parties.

The industrialists, claiming that this increase was unbearable and made competition in the markets of the world impossible, shut down their plants.

The consequences of this action are difficult to foresee as many intricate legal points are involved. It is assumed, however, that the conflict will be brought to a quick end by government intervention, as continued struggle would have a disastrous effect on the whole economic life of the country.

Detective Lowe's Father Elated Over Son's Success

AN EX-OFFICER HIMSELF, HE FEARS FOR JOHN'S SAFETY

BY T. K. JONES.

That a father is the quickest to take cognizance of a laudable undertaking his son may accomplish, is axiomatic.

And in the case of City Detective John W. Lowe, who is credited with having single-handedly apprehended George Harsh, self-confessed "thrift" bandit-killer and "Dick" Gallagher, his alleged accomplice, the sleuth's 82-year-old father in Columbia, S. C., has, with characteristic paternal elation, communicated to his illustrious son simple but meaningful expressions of pleasure and satisfaction, following announcement that Atlanta's baffling holdup murders had been solved.

Advice and Felicitations.

The father, Samuel W. Lowe, himself a retired officer, after reading in The Constitution of his son's success, offered both advice and felicitations to the younger Lowe. His letter was one of hundreds that have been received by Lowe within the past few days, but it was the "only one that contained advice" the detective pointed out. "I think Dad fears for my safety now—after all the danger (if there ever was any) is over."

In part, the letter received by Lowe from his father said: "It was a great piece of work, son, and I know I'm mighty proud of you, but please ask the newspapers not to use your picture. The picture of a plain-clothes man should under no circumstances be subjected to public scrutiny. What do you want to do—let every crook in the south know you by sight?"

The warning to "keep his picture from the newspapers" brought a hearty laugh from the detective. "Dad is getting old and childish now, and is unnecessarily concerned about my welfare, but he knows the game thoroughly. Only last March he resigned as a detective for the state of South Carolina, where he worked for eight years out of the fire commissioners' office investigating arson cases. He was with the state constabulary about five years prior to that time, and before that he was for more than 12 years a policeman—for some time "the" policeman—for Laurens county, South Carolina. The office was created especially for him, and for quite a while he was the county's only officer."

Desire to Become Officer.

It was several years after dad received his first appointment as a guardian of the law that I became obsessed with a desire to follow in his footsteps," Lowe said. "Many nights I would go with him far into the country to 'raid' crap games, and dad being pretty old, even then, I had to do most of the running. I usually would catch at least one of the violators—which were mostly negroes—and dad would make him or them tell us the names of the others."

"A funny thing about dad," Lowe said, "is that shortly after his hair turned grey he dyed it black, and that probably accounts for his having been in active service at the age of 82 years. He was afraid of being asked

BORAH CANCELS SPEECH IN CHICAGO

Chicago, November 1.—(AP)—James W. Good, western manager for Herbert Hoover, received word today from Senator William E. Borah that he would be unable to address a mass meeting here Monday night as scheduled.

The senator wired from Baltimore that he was suffering with an ear infection from the rigors of the campaign he was waging over the country.

CANNON CHALLENGES SMITH AND RASKOB

Declares Candidate Injected Religious Issue Into Campaign.

Richmond, Va., November 1.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in a letter to Governor Alfred E. Smith, blames Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee and the nominee himself with injecting the religious issue into the campaign as a "deliberate effort to throw out a political smoke screen."

"I flatly challenge you to meet the issue of tolerance," Bishop Cannon said, declaring that Governor Smith had attempted to brand his opponents as intolerant bigots.

"The Asheville conference did not inject the religious issue into this political campaign," he said. "Prohibition and Tammany were sufficient reasons to oppose you but you, for political purposes, emphasized the religious issue. Having raised the issue, we have the right to demand that you answer the questions which I ask:

"First: Do you believe that all but Roman Catholics are 'strangers to the hope of life and salvation'?"

"Second: Do you repudiate the authoritative encyclical statement of Pope Gregory, Pius, Leo and Dr. Ryan concerning the union of church and state, Masonry, Bible societies and the Y. M. C. A.?"

Quotes Encyclical.

Bishop Cannon quoted in connection with his first question what he said was an encyclical issued last January by Pope Pius XI, as follows: "Furthermore, in this our church of Christ (Roman Catholic) no man can be or remain who does not accept, recognize and obey the authority of Peter and his legitimate successors (the Roman pontiff). The (Roman) Catholic church alone is keeping the true worship. This is the fount of truth, this is the house of faith; this is the temple of God; if any man enter not here, or if any man go forth from it he is a stranger to the hope of life and salvation."

"Probably no more intolerant statement has ever been made," Bishop Cannon said, telling the governor at the same time that he believed Roman Catholics would be saved and asserting that he had personally been helped by Catholic sermons and hymns.

"I ask you to state whether you do actually agree with this encyclical 'infallible' declaration—that all but Romanists are strangers to the hope of salvation," Bishop Cannon said. "If you do not you are not a loyal Roman Catholic; if you do you are more intolerant than those whom for political purposes you denounced as intolerant."

Bishop Cannon said Governor Smith's quoted statements in Baltimore that he was a loyal son of the church, and that he adhered to the American principle of separation of church and state were flatly contradictory.

Pope's Declaration.

Pius XI, the bishop said, declared "it is false that the church must be separated from the state and the state from the church." Pope Leo XIII, he said, had declared "it is not lawful for the state any more than for the individual to disregard all religious duties or to hold in equal favor different kinds of religion. . . . the church deems it unlawful to place the various forms of divine worship on the same footing with the true religion."

These utterances are absolutely binding on all Romanists—yourself and Mr. Raskob included," Bishop Cannon said. The bishop added that Dr. John A. Ryan, in his book, "The State and the Church," agrees that such a union is impossible under the American constitution, but says:

"But constitutions can be changed, and non-Catholic sects may decline to such a point that the political prescription of them may become feasible and expedient."

These quotations show, Bishop Cannon wrote, that "if you are a loyal son of the church" you "cannot believe in the separation of church and state."

Tug Wirelesses For Aid Off Coast Of Savannah, Ga.

Savannah, November 1.—(AP)—The cutter Yamacraw, U. S. C. G., sailed late today to the assistance of the tug Ontario and the barge A. W. Thompson when the tug sent a wireless stating that she was running out of fuel. The tug was towing the barge, which is loaded with a cargo of phosphate rock from the Gulf of Wilmington, N. C.

The position of the vessels was given as latitude 30 degrees, 35 minutes north, longitude 79 degrees, 54 minutes west, which is about 90 miles southeast of Savannah lightship off Tybee Island.

Captain Leroy Reinburg, in command of the Yamacraw, stated before leaving that he expected to reach the vessel tomorrow morning. The Ontario reported only a day's fuel left.

A stiff breeze was said to be blowing outside.

As the Yamacraw was being warped around by means of a stern line preparatory to heading down the river, the line which was attached to the municipal dock broke while the vessel was broadside to the outgoing tide, but the cutter straightened out without difficulty and steamed off to the assistance of the tug and barge.

Plans were being made to send the tug William F. McCauley, of the Atlantic Towing company, fleet to the assistance of the Ontario and A. W. Thompson when the departure of the Yamacraw made it unnecessary.

His statement was issued by the Smith independent organizations committee.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

From the highlands of Scotland comes much of the uncommon fabrics represented in our collection of smart overcoats.

The art of weaving Scotch Tweeds has been handed down from generation to generation, often in the same families for hundreds of years.

The wear-resisting feature of the material is due in a large measure to the care in selecting native wool; the spinning, dyeing and weaving. Colors are inspired by Scotch heather, and the rare effects are obtained by the use of fast-color vegetable dyes.

Thus are Scotch Tweeds noted for exceptional quality and durability, original patterns and novel colorings—not obtainable elsewhere in all the world.

Our London representative keeps in closest touch with the weavers of Scotland and their smartest fabrics are quickly made into latest London-inspired styles for Atlanta men. You'll always see the new, the smart, the good, here—usually FIRST!

I'm A Ph. D.,
Merchant

I tell you right now I tied up more bundles of clothing back in Columbus, Ohio, than any other Scotchman in America.

Why, do you know I had a brother who went to a theological school for six years and now they call him a Ph.D. preacher.

He ain't got nothin' on me, 'cause I been in this here clothing business for more than 30 years. Buyin' and sellin' ain't nothin' but psychology. I got my livin' made long ago and I couldn't stop buyin' an' sellin' if I didn't make a dime. It's the smiles on your faces that pays me when I hear you say—"What Metcalf Says Is So."

Read on, "honey boy," you ain't heard nothin' yet.

When I opened this clothing store in Atlanta on Forsyth street the big clothing merchants gimme the laugh, but "he who laughs best laughs last"—"lay on Macduff and damned be he who cries enough." Every year I have opened another room on Forsyth street and now I am taking the last two rooms available between the Haas-Howell building and Vaughan's restaurant. This gives me the largest ground floor clothing store in Atlanta.

Look all around me today; two big clothin' stores busted, two of 'em sellin' out to quit, but I'm just gettin' started. I've taken a long lease on these five rooms and made up my mind that I'm going to sell clothing right here in Atlanta till I die.

I'm sellin' a hat every minute and I can prove it. If I'd tell you how many suits and overcoats I've sold this fall you'd know somebody's got the jack, 'cause what I'm talkin' about, they shyp it to me and say "How can you do it? My home dealer wants, for the same suit, twenty-five bucks."

I'm so thankful to "you-all" for having made it possible for me to open two more rooms that I am goin' to sell all day Saturday—

All-wool Suits ..... $13.50

Fine all-wool Topcoats (silk lined) for ..... $10.85

And a new Three Dollar Hat (all sizes and all colors) for ..... $1.50

Genuine English Broadcloth Shirts, (white or colored) for ninety-nine cents instead of one dollar and a half.

Ten's heavy ribbed Spring Needle Union Suits for ..... 99c

Men's extra heavy Spring Needle Shirts and Drawers for 50c instead of a dollar. Come in the forenoon, if possible, and, remember, a little jack goes a long ways with me. If you come to look you'll buy.

Yours truly,

THE election of November 6th will go down in history. It must concern every friend of prohibition and law enforcement.

From the beginning of the dry crusade down to the present, prohibition has never been a partisan issue. It has always been a moral issue. It has been sponsored with equal aggressiveness by the right-minded men and women of every party.

Party lines have been drawn in the present election, not by the friends of prohibition but by its foes. That fact does not alter the non-partisan character of our actions. We have opposed, and will oppose, all parties and every candidate for office which would destroy or weaken the Eighteenth Amendment.

Prohibition remains a moral and not a partisan issue. But because the issue has been thus forced by the wets, the men and women who brought prohibition to pass are called to use the machinery of politics to reaffirm their faith in this, the greatest reform of the century.

Bishop Jas. Cannon, Jr.

Dr. Peter Ainslie

Mrs. Lucy W. Peabody

Fred B. Smith

We, therefore, make this call to Americans of all parties and of all faiths to observe Sunday as Ballot Rally Day.

We urge that, on this Sunday, in their respective places of worship, the citizens of this land shall resolve, as their God-given duty, to vote on November 6th.

We urge, particularly, that the preachers from their pulpits shall emphasize to their congregations that to vote is the most elemental obligation of good citizenship.

We urge, finally, that both preacher and people face squarely the added responsibility that is upon them in this election when the future of prohibition is clearly committed to their hands.

We address this call to the members of the churches. Prohibition was their victory. By them it must be defended and retained.

How a Wet President Could Destroy Prohibition.

1. By his personal position a wet President could immeasurably increase the number of those who flout the law.

2. By his appointive power he could change the personnel of the United States Supreme Court until a majority of its members were opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment and ready to declare it unconstitutional. The next President will almost certainly exercise this appointive power since the ages of the Supreme Court judges are as follows: 87, 72, 71, 69, 66, 63, 62, 56.

3. By his appointive power the President—who selects all Circuit and District Judges of Federal Courts where prohibition cases are tried—could insure that a hostile federal judiciary hampered the rigorous enforcement of the law.

4. By the selection of his own Cabinet members. Three of these—the Attorney-General, Secretary of the Treasury and Secretary of State, are directly related to prohibition enforcement. The Attorney-General directs the work of enforcement in the courts of the land.

The Secretary of the Treasury, under Presidential direction, appoints all federal prohibition enforcement officers.

The Secretary of State drafts those treaties which have to do with the elimination of the smuggling of liquor into the United States from abroad.

5. By influencing legislation the President could seek to bring about a change in the prohibition law. The President, because he controls party patronage, has a very direct influence upon members of Congress. Further, one of the duties of the President is to make written recommendation of legislation that he favors.

6. By exercising his power to veto over prohibition legislation with which he disagrees.

Elect a wet President of the United States and the wet press of America and the world and the liquor interests of every nation will rejoice with joy unspeakable. They, by that election, will be given a new lease of life.

Elect a dry President of the United States and the doom of the liquor traffic in America and abroad will be, by that fact, more finally sealed.

In his Philadelphia speech, Governor Smith very definitely promised that if elected to the presidency, he would carry his fight for a change in the present prohibition law to the people—meaning that at the next congressional elections he would use his influence as President to elect WET congressmen and senators and defeat DRY congressmen and senators—in order to have a Congress to carry out his designs on the prohibition law.

Sleeps All Night Now. Bronchial Trouble Is Gone.

How to get rid of asthma and severe bronchial coughs is convincingly shown in a letter by Mrs. E. J. Bain, 1902 W. Vermont St., Indianapolis, Ind. She says: "I had bronchial asthma severely and was so weak and nervous, it just seemed I would drop at every step. I couldn't sleep at night, and had to sit up in bed, taking Nacor, every symptom of asthma has left me, and I did not have a cold or cough all winter. I can walk well, weigh 120 pounds, sleep well at night, am stronger than I have been for years. Hundreds of other sufferers from asthma, bronchitis and chronic coughs have reported their recovery, after years of affliction. ## AINSWORTH RESUMES ATTACK ON AL SMITH

Bishop Comes Home From Orient To Cast His Vote.

Macon, Ga., November 1.—(AP)—Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, on his return here today from the Orient, issued a statement in which he declared that he had hurried home to vote in Tuesday's general election.

The bishop's statement said that he had finished his engagements in the Far East and hurried home, "to cast the most important vote of my life. Never was there more at stake in an American election."

"With full conviction of its value and the final efficiency of its enforcement," the statement continued, "I am going to vote for the preservation of national prohibition. This is the real issue of the campaign and no good citizen can afford to ignore it. I am convinced that it would set back the moral forces of the world a full century to elect as president of the United States any man who is not in whole-hearted sympathy with the eighteenth amendment and its faithful enforcement."

Bishop Ainsworth attacked Governor Alfred E. Smith, the democratic nominee for his stand on the prohibition question and John J. Rankin, chairman of the democratic national committee, whom he charged "dedicated himself and his millions" to a change in the prohibition laws.

In conclusion the bishop's statement said: "The most vital moral issues are at stake for America and the world for today and a long tomorrow. Let the people know it and meet it in the fear of God."

"I will vote in keeping with the labor of my life and against this monstrous attempt to break down the bulwarks of sobriety. And I am no bolter."

The regular monthly session of the state prison commission, scheduled for Monday, has been postponed until Wednesday, November 7. It was announced at the office of the commission Thursday.

The postponement will enable the members of the prison commission and attaches of that office to return to their homes to cast their votes in the national election.

FEDERAL PRISONER IS SEEKING LIBERTY ON HABEAS CORPUS

PRISON BODY MEETING Session Is Postponed Until Wednesday, November 7.

A petition instituting habeas corpus proceedings was filed in Judge Sibley's United States district court Thursday for Claude W. Drummond, said to be serving time in the federal penitentiary here for violation of the Harrison narcotic law.

Drummond was sentenced by a Louisiana court to serve a year and day following a plea of guilty, the petition states, but there was no stipulation as to when the sentence should begin. The petitioner claims that he should have been allowed eleven days off which he spent in jail in Louisiana, and that Warden Snook received an amended commitment to that effect but has not allowed the release which he says he is now entitled to, with additional time off for good behavior. A hearing has been set for

THE GOVERNOR'S APPEAL.

Every voter in Georgia who has heretofore been aligned with the democratic party, but who is fighting the party nominees in this campaign, should read the earnest appeal of Governor Hardman that all remain true and faithful to the party of the fathers that has meant so much to Georgia, and to the south.

Governor Hardman is the titular head of the party in the state. He is one of the most ardent prohibitionists in the country, and fought for and helped obtain state prohibition laws in Georgia when a member of the assembly. He is one of the south's most prominent Baptist laymen. He lives what he preaches, as to prohibition, and as to his religion. Following is one paragraph from his forceful statement:

"It is a gratifying feature of this campaign that both of Georgia's distinguished senators and all twelve of her congressmen, together with the people, and other democratic officials in all sections of the state are standing steadily by the party and its nominees, and with them I want to urge the voters of the state to go to the polls and vote the straight democratic ticket, and thus demonstrate to the world that Georgians are true to the political ideals of their fathers."

We not only commend his words as to party obligation and regularity, but we join him in urging voters to go to the polls. It is not possible to register a will of the people with minority votes. Government is business, and this is a government of parties.

There is no such person as a "Hoover-democrat." The people of Georgia who vote for national candidates are going to vote either a straight republican ballot, or a straight democratic ballot, and there can be no side stepping.

The republicans who can vote, and the insurrectionists, are going to the polls. If all democrats, the overwhelming majority in Georgia, do not go to the polls next Tuesday, those who fail to do so will abet and lend encouragement not only to the republican party, but to the attempt to settle the democratic party from within.

MR. STANLEY'S CANDIDACY.

At the state democratic convention held recently in Macon V. L. Stanley, of Laurens county, was nominated to succeed the late Judge R. E. Davidson on the state primary commission. Governor Hardman had already appointed him to fill the vacancy until the general election. It was not deemed practicable by the state democratic executive committee to order a state-wide primary for this one state house office. Judge Davidson had been regularly nominated in the September primary. His death subsequently did not leave sufficient time for another state primary, and the expense would have been heavy if all the ballot boxes in the state were open, or even one at each of the county seats. Unless such a primary should be state-wide it would be neither regular nor democratic. The state convention was a representative body of democrats from every county.

On this question, due to the announced candidacy of another, who claims also to be "regular," the Greensboro Herald-Journal says:

"There has been some criticism of the recent state convention in making a nomination for the position of primary commission. Most of the criticism comes from the republican press in Georgia, naturally. The law required that a successor to the late deceased Judge Davidson be voted upon at the general election on November 6. Mr. Davidson had already been nominated to succeed himself. His commission would have expired June 1, 1929. Will some of those who are condemning the naming of Mr. Stanley please inform us how a democratic nomination could have been arrived at in the event the democratic convention had not named a nominee? It certainly would not have been right to call a state-wide primary to decide this matter, for one little office. The state or county does not pay for printing tickets and holding party primaries.

The governor has appointed Mr. Stanley to fill the office until November 6, when a successor to Mr. Davidson will be named in the general election.

"Mr. Stanley is the democratic nominee, fairly and honestly nominated by delegates representing practically every county in Georgia."

Any citizen, meeting voting qualification, has a right to run in the general elections. That cannot be disputed, and Secretary of State Carswell has already certified to the governor "two candidates qualified for prison commissioner to succeed Mr. R. E. Davidson, to wit: V. L. Stanley and A. H. Henslee."

As to the democratic nominee, however, the position of Editor Williams, of Greensboro, is correct. The law is specific. From "election rules and regulations," acts of 1922, the concluding portion of section three, reads as follows:

"In the event of the resignation or death of any nominee, of any political party prior to the regular election, at which the name of the nominee is to appear on the official ballot, said vacancy in nomination shall be filled in such manner as may be determined by the proper authorities of such party."

The supreme court has held that the state democratic executive committee's rules are law as pertaining to the affairs of the party, and a state convention of democrats called by that committee necessarily becomes its creature. Therefore, its actions are legal, and represent the democratic party in the state.

THE FRIEND OF SCHOOLS.

In his Newark speech, in which Governor Smith flayed the republican campaign managers and speakers, including the candidates, for attempting to fool the voters of this country as to that party's position on vital national issues, he made the following significant statement that ought to sink deep into the hearts of every one:

"My record as governor of New York shows that there has been no greater friend to the cause of public education than I have been. During my administration the appropriations from state funds for public education rose from $9,000,000 in 1913 to $86,000,000 in 1923."

"Public elementary and high school facilities were extended, general appropriations made for agricultural colleges and salaries to teachers increased to meet the higher cost of living."

"I went further than the republican party was willing to go when I made a strenuous effort to improve conditions in the rural schools, only to be met by republican opposition sufficiently strong in a hostile legislature to defeat the proposal."

What Governor Smith said is a matter of public record and can be easily verified. And yet, all over this country, an insidious campaign of slander is being conducted by agitators of religious prejudice, in which the statement is made that Governor Smith is opposed to public schools, and in favor only of parochial schools.

The fact is he vetoed a bill appropriating funds to parochial schools—a bill passed by a republican legislature. Why not be fair?

THE SMITH-LEVER BILL.

One of the outstanding acts of congress during the Wilson administration was the Smith-Lever act which established in each state, with federal aid, the agricultural extension services. With the possible exception of the federal reserve act this is one of the most constructive pieces of legislation ever placed in the federal statutes, and has been of inestimable benefit to farmers in every state. Assuredly we have seen and felt its good results in Georgia.

The authors of this act were Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, and Representative Frank Lever of South Carolina. There has been some confusion on account of the fact that South Carolina has a Senator Smith, who has been, and is, deeply interested in agriculture.

Former Senator Hoke Smith, who was also a joint author of the Smith-Hughes vocational educational act, is actively and resourcefully engaged at the present time in the campaign for the nominees of the national democratic party.

THE ZEPPELIN'S TRIUMPH.

The news that the Graf Zeppelin had safely landed at her German moorings brought joy to the entire world, for the hazards of the return trip from America, along the northern route, and in the teeth of storm and ice, were known and appreciated by all.

The marvelous speed record on the return voyage, added to the storm encounters, make the expedition of this great dirigible from Germany to America, and from America back to Germany, without a mishap, or the slightest distress to passengers, and crew, one of the outstanding features in the world's history of aerial transportation.

In the meantime it has dissipated doubt as to the practicability of trans-oceanic commercial transportation. From this voyage great strides in this new field of long distance air transportation will develop.

We join Germany in felicitations. It was a great round-trip, accomplished in triumph.

Many candidates who get out of the race next month will wish that they got more out of it.

It is impossible for the tolerant to tolerate the intolerant.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

"Now It Can Be Told."

Some of the events of the world which a rigorous censorship succeeded in concealing at the time now are being made known or are coming into discussion in various ways. For instance, it was never announced in the communiques at the time that on April 3, 1916, a German ship loaded on "Magasin X," a food supply store at Verdun (Meuse) where 375 French infantrymen were quartered and burned the building and all the soldiers in it. Such a story would have been disastrous to "Morale" and it was never known outside Verdun until after the war. But yesterday, on the site of "Magasin X," a monument made from stones of the original building, was inaugurated to the memory of the men who perished there. A similar disaster that was never revealed until after the war was the explosion of a powder factory near Nantes. It cost the lives of hundreds of workmen. The censor forbade any mention of the explosion. It was not until after the war that France learned of the greatest railway accident in her history. A troop train laden with men on the way to the Italian front ran off the rails in the Alps and plunged down a ravine. Five hundred soldiers were killed outright. No one knew about it until long afterward. Sometimes the censors, careful as they were to keep certain kinds of news out of the newspapers, failed to attain their purpose. One classic example occurred at Nancy which was being shelled by a German long-range gun. Since the Germans had no means of knowing where their range was correct, the censor forbade any mention of the spots where the shells fell in the city. Several hundred were killed and their relatives placed funeral notices in the newspapers. There were whole columns of notices announcing the "sudden death" of various persons, all of whom appeared to have been living in the same part of the city. It was an easy matter for the German intelligence service to deduce that the long-range gun was shelling Nancy effectively.

As to "outstanding," I don't think Jesus Christ, if on earth today, would measure a Christian by his worldly goods, or by whether or not he is in the newspaper columns daily, or in "Who's Who."

To sneer and to slur at a church member because he hasn't the outstanding reputation of Dr. Jones, or other great preachers, or others, is not, to my way of thinking, entirely right. Anyway, here follows the letter from the Georgia head of the Anti-Saloon league:

"My dear Mr. Hollomon: In your department, 'Just in Passing,' Thursday, November 1, you published a letter from a 'young man' who was in contact with those higher up and yet not politicians in the sense of the word, is a rabid Smithite—he believed in him for his strong and pleasing personality—his lovely disposition—a hum. I am in all that it implies—and has led all her companions to believe as she believes—writes that Smith will carry New York city with a vote so large that upstate cannot overtake it."

"Then I have an influential friend in the east, who is a republican, who says that Smith will sweep the country."

"And there you are!"

My, my! What a hold Governor Smith has upon the masses of people!

Only a man who is honest, sober, sincere, and toiling with his head that beats for the great common people, could have such a hold. This letter from New York is not intended to influence any bets. The good Lord only knows what the result will be. But in the interest of the many as against the few, it ought to be for the democratic nominees.

The south will stand true! And despite the most despicable and vicious campaign against the democratic nominees in history. Watch that prediction!

Publicity.

Cinema publicity organizations are priceless in the press matter which they seek out. The tendency towards publicity in this field is quite universal. For instance, there was the English press agent who a few weeks ago told the world that a film director, Harry Lachauer, of London, who had spent several years as a painter in Paris, had more pictures in the Louvre and Luxembourg museums than any other painter in the world or alive! It would be hard to beat that one, but the Will Hays organization usually does its best. Next to the Louvre, the Louvre is the ears of Mr. Hays are too prominent. The Hays organization sees to it that films are "pure" enough to avoid censorship, and that they are telling how trade follows the American film. Here is a sample: "Because of motion pictures, a certain type of California bungalow has come into wide use. Because they have formed a pleasant background for so many pictures, swimming pools at private homes have come into general use. Because they are so general use, the manufacturers of Great Britain produce the well lighted and well ventilated roomy offices in which the business men are getting, and getting, more comfortable."

Georgia Specifically Inhibits All the Forms of Intolerance

Editor Constitution: I have just run across a decision of the supreme court in the case of Maxey vs. Bell in the 41 Georgia reports for 1928, which will possibly be of interest to you. The decision in this case is as follows:

"The office of man in this state is subject to any civil or political incapacity by reason of his opinions upon any subject, and that one is a Universalist or atheist, or holder of other religious views, is no ground for his removal from the guardianship of minor children, to which he was appointed by the will of the deceased father of the children."

This decision was rendered at the June term, 1870, which was during the reconstruction and reconstruction was written by Justice McCall, who, I am informed, was a member of the republican party, and I quote his opinion verbatim:

"It is a little extraordinary that the spirit of intolerance should need such precise restraints to keep it within bounds. It has for years been the settled law of this state that men shall not be molested for their religious opinions. The constitution of 1861 and 1865, and the constitution of 1890, all hold any public office or trust on account of his religious opinions. Constitution, 1865, article 1, section 6. By a and it has been the policy of some orthodox people did not admit that this protected one who had opinions which they did not think were 'right' or 'wrong.' Little we know of Mr. Bell, an 'infidel,' of the sect of Universalists, with intent, we suppose, to put him out of the protection of the constitution, we are told that his opinions could not be classed as religious. But without doubt, even the constitution of 1861 and 1865 mean, by this opinion upon matters relating to the relation between man and his Maker. But our present constitution gives broader language. After using the language of the constitution of 1861 and 1865, article 1, section 6, it adds another clause: 'Section 12, article 1, is in these words: 'No person shall be molested for his opinions, or be subject to any civil or political incapacity, or acquire any civil or political advantage in consequence of such opinions.'"

This cuts at the root of the whole matter—leaves not a single link of the old chain by which, for so many centuries, men have tried to bind in fetters the human mind.

In Georgia a man may think as he pleases upon any subject, religious, philosophical or political, and is not for that, under any civil or political disability.

The office of guardian is a public trust and these clauses declare no man incapacitated for that trust by reason of his opinions.

"If men act badly, and lead lives rendering them unfit to have the rearing of children, we will not say that the courts may not interfere. But over men's opinions, by the laws of Georgia, we have no jurisdiction, and we think this is a wise provision."

This Tennessee Republican Is Converted to Democracy

Editor Constitution: I have been asked by many local citizens to write you an expression of their sincere appreciation of the editorial you published last week, in which you stated that a certain Republican, who had spent several years as a painter in Paris, had more pictures in the Louvre and Luxembourg museums than any other painter in the world or alive! ## WASTAGE OF IODIN.

A correspondent writing about the use of Irish moss (sea weed) as a food or relish remarks that years ago when she lived in a suburb of Boston, Mass., the people used sea weed as fertilizer for the soil. Thus, I believe, food grown on the soil in that region would contain a fair quantity of iodine, and the milk of cows or goats grazing on the grass, as well as the milk of a human mother who eats freely of fruits or vegetables grown on such soil, would contain a fair quantity of iodine. My correspondent writes from her home in Idaho, where she has lived many years. There, she says, about one in every three persons shows some indication of goiter. This has been more striking to her, because there was and still is so very little goiter about her old home in Massachusetts.

That a cold wave is headed this way from the Mississippi section, and slightly higher temperatures to-day. Temperatures Thursday ranged from a minimum of 44 up to 51 at noon and just below 60 at 3 o'clock. The maximum for the day was 61. The summary for the month of October just released by the weather bureau reveals an average daily temperature of 65.3, which is two degrees above the normal figure for the month. The highest figure reached was 86 on October 13, while 40, register October 30, was the lowest spot of the month. Neither of these figures approach the record for October as 94 was reached October 3, 1911, and 24 was the minimum on October 24, 1917. While the temperature average for October is above the average, the average daily deficiency since January 1 is one-half a degree. Rainfall for the month just ended totaled 2.19 inches which represents a deficiency of 4.4 of an inch as compared with the normal average. However, it is 5.43 inches. The largest amount of rain during the month of October was in 1915, when 6.45 inches were recorded, while the greatest rainfall for any one period of 24 hours was October 14-15, when 3.51 inches fell. The largest amount recorded in one month for one day was .86 on October 23.

SURE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY, SAYS SMITH

The parade will start at the Battery and end up in Central Park. Five thousand policemen will be on duty along the line of march.

Last Speech Monday Night.

The second speech will be made in Madison Square Garden Saturday night, and the third, which will be his final appeal to the voters, will be delivered Monday night from a radio studio to which only democratic chiefs, personal friends of the nominee, and the press will be admitted.

Today the governor spoke briefly to a group of naturalized American citizens and also to another group composed of representatives of the College League for Smith. Both of these addresses were delivered in a parlor of the Biltmore hotel. Dr. John Dewey, of Columbia university, was the college candidate as the best friend of the New York common schools ever occupy the executive chair at Albany.

Repeating the governor said that it was those who had been deprived of an education who had a keen appreciation of what it meant. He expressed belief that some day the entire cost of education would be taken over by the state "because it was to be a better thing than I would have taken it from books."

"It has been said to me that I never forget anything I hear," he declared, "and in 25 years I heard plenty of it."

Dr. Dewey also said in presenting the nominee that besides admiring the governor's record in New York state, the teachers and students "love you because you have learned your wisdom in the school of experience, in closest sympathy with the troubles and the hopes of your fellow human beings."

In speaking to the naturalized American group, the governor said that if there were "any such thing as a man having a sympathetic understanding with the aims and aspirations of America's new citizens, he should be a democrat."

He recalled he had been born in the shadow of Brooklyn bridge and declared he "certainly" had no "shoulders" with America's new citizens.

"When I took my seat in the assembly on the first Wednesday in 1904," he said, "I represented the most cosmopolitan district of the known world, because only one of the representatives of every race, but there were colonies of them, even to China."

The governor praised the naturalized American for the "spirit of patriotism" displayed during the world war and told them it had been "rumored" around as a part of the "whispering campaign" that he was against public schools. He said any one familiar with him knew that this was "stupid" and declared Frank P. Graves, New York commissioner of education, and a republican, had publicly stated that during his connection with the New York department of education, no one had done so much to help the school system as Smith.

The Political and Defensive Problem of Safety Limited Immigration.

Washington, November 1.—One of the outstanding revelations of the campaign is the wide opposition to the liberalization of our immigration laws. The conviction seems general, outside a few congested foreign colonies in the cities, that further relaxation of the restrictions on foreigners should be strictly limited by the prevailing quota regulations.

The quotas now allowed to various foreign countries are based upon the census of 1890 of natives of those countries then resident in the United States population.

The reason for adopting that basis was to encourage the coming hither from Europe of persons from the north-European nations and limit the number coming from the southern and east-European countries of that continent. In other words, we set up preferences for Anglo-Saxon, Teutonic and Scandinavian immigrants over those from the Latin, Greek and Eurasian areas.

Blenders and Non-Blenders.

It was argued and fairly well proved by experienced immigration officials that the immigrants from the most favored nations—the British Isles, Germany, Holland, Denmark and Scandinavia—were more readily assimilated with the general mass of our cosmopolitan population. The common American stock has been compounded of such elements from the various nations of the continent. Noble examples of those racial stocks were engaged in planning our original colonies, in defending them from the Indians, in the war of Independence by which these United States became a free and independent nation.

It should go without argument that, if we are to make choice at all between peoples, we should give preference to those who have contributed so much and splendidly to the texture and particular character of "this American people."

So that when the congress decided that there should be a sitting and limiting of immigration, the feeling was that the nation should give wider entry to immigrants from congenial rather than inimical races of mankind.

A Gradual Feeding.

Our experiences with foreign-derived elements during the world war opened the eyes of our people to the perils that lurk in a too large an admixture of our population with aliens untrained in our political system and unfamiliar with our social psychology. We found that their bodies might be here, but their hearts were back overseas in the lands they had deserted to find security and a better life.

We found, in fact, that the famous "melting pot" had not melted effectively, and that in a time of stress and war we had established espionage and internments to safeguard the nation from internal enemies.

Before that war we had kept our doors open, with but few restrictions, to all who sought refuge or opportunity among us. But the American people at large will not soon forget this.

No Scrimmage On Schedule For Jackets

Boys Take It Easy Preparing for Petrel Game; Alex Works on Passes.

BY HERB CLARK.

As the week draws to its close, bringing with it the annual Tech-Oglethorpe grid struggle, which is to take place on Grant field this Saturday at 2:30, the Jacket squad is completing its preparatory work for the fray.

Thursday's session at the Flats saw another drill which took the team from the fundamentals to the fine points of the sport. Coaches Alexander and Fincher split the squad between themselves to start the practice. Fincher led the linemen down to the lower field and the dummies, and put them through a long session of blocking and charging, while Alex held a passing drill, one varsity backfield facing a second outfit. Passes brought much criticism, but the work-out kept both squads on their toes, and no more can be said.

The whistle called the entire squad together for a division into teams which ran signals and held a short dummy scrimmage.

The injury list, which promised dire things for the Tech hopes earlier in the week, has dwindled considerably, bringing joy to the hearts of the master minds out North avenue way. Westbrook and Holt, with hands still in plaster, are the only two men who will not be able to go in against the Petrels. Westbrook's place will probably be filled by either Edwards or Keener. Keener, who has spent most of his time at a flank post, has been running at guard during the past few days, and is showing up well.

This has been the lightest week of the season for the Jackets, who have not indulged in any bodily contact since the Tarheel fray. They will refrain from rough stuff until Harry Robertson brings his sound over Saturday, but expect plenty of it then, since the Petrels express their usual determination to show the Jackets a

Famous Golf Shots & 1928

Finlay Delivers in a Pinch

BY BRIAN BELL.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

A GREAT recovery shot kept Phillips Finlay, Harvard sophomore, in the national amateur golf championship at Brae Burn when he seemed about to fade out in a quarter-final match with Harrison R. ("Jimmy") Johnston, the straight-shooting St. Paul star.

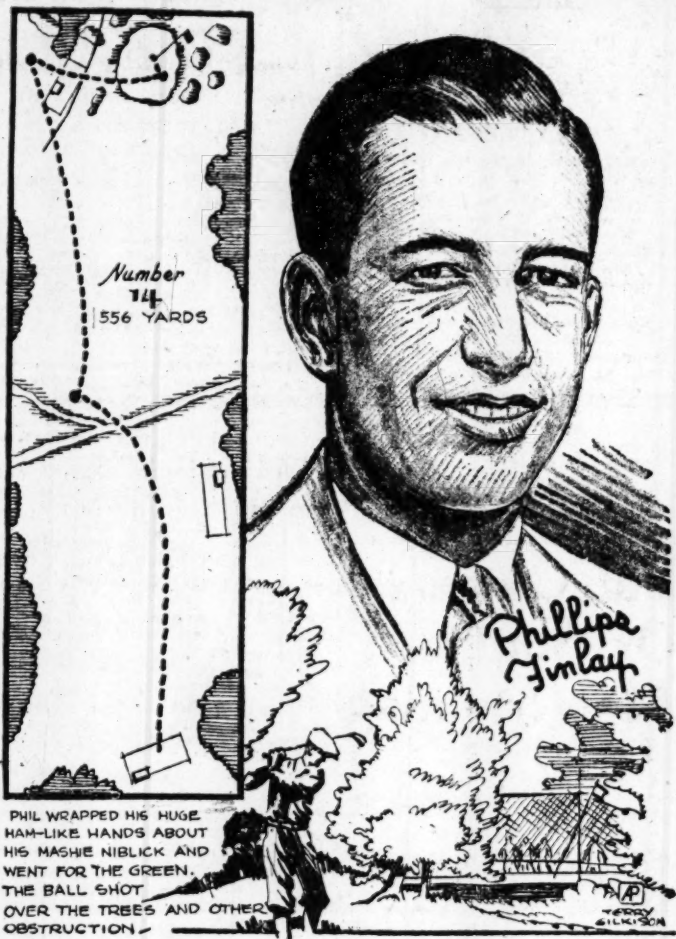

Finlay was one down at the thirty-second hole, the fourteenth when only 18 are played, and the longest hole on the course. The collegian, one of golf's longest hitters, started on his 577-yard journey to the fourteenth with a long drive and his second shot was almost as long, but with practically no sense of direction.

Coming up to play his third, Phil found that, although he was almost on a line with the hole, he was 100 yards to the left. Standing in the path of an approach to the green were traps, trees, rough and a high wire screen to protect the fifteenth tee from wild shots.

"Jimmy" had advanced to the green in the conventional three strokes with a drive, brassie and pitch, and was reasonably certain of a par five which seemed better than Finlay could hope to accomplish. And then the shot. Phil wrapped his huge ham-like hands about his mangle niblick and went for the green.

The ball, from a fairly good lie, shot over the trees and other obstructions, including the high screen, and not only landed on the green to stay there, but rolled to within easy putting distance of the cup. When he was down with a birdie 4, the match was square and, although he did not know it at the moment, the St. Paul star was defeated.

On the next hole, 311 yards, Finlay again was long, but wild from the tee and was left with another exacting shot to reach the green with his second, but he sent the ball spinning on to get a par 4, good enough to win when Johnston explored a trap and emerged with a 5. These two shots, with the emphasis on the first, enabled the youngster to continue to the semi-finals, where he ran into Bobby Jones and retired from further competition.

What Is Happening In Grid Camps

RALEIGH, N. C., November 1.—(AP)—Scrimmage in preparation for meeting the fast University of North Carolina eleven here Saturday, occupied the attention of the North Carolina State squad until darkness.

A backfield composed of Adams, Crum, Gustin and McLawhorn spent two hours in carrying the ball through the third team's line, while Warren continued his punting practice.

Defensive work was stressed today, the varsity being called upon to stop the second stringers' attempts to push the ball over the chalk line.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., November 1.—(AP)—Earliest quest for husky tackles was launched in scrimmages by the University of North Carolina squad in anticipation of the battle with North Carolina state at Raleigh next Saturday.

Shine Howard and Fenton Adkins, varsity tackles who started in the Georgia Tech mixup, will watch the State encounter from the bench and coaches indicated that it now seems likely that Earl Donahue will not see service against the Wolfpack either. Donahue suffered injuries in the Tech fray.

BLACKSBURG, VA., November 1.—(AP)—While it has not been definitely decided that he will play against Maryland at Norfolk Saturday, V. P. I.'s hopes were boosted when "Fannie" Brown, Gobbler regular center, appeared on the practice field.

Coaches Gustafsen and Frank will later announce whether Brown will hold the pivot position or whether Nelson Prior, reserve center, who has given a good account of himself in the three games he has played this season, will be used.

The Gobbles are getting some of the hardest workouts of the season in preparation for the Maryland battle. Freshmen teams are being used as opposition and they are amply providing it.

Coach Gustafsen is concentrating on offensive tactics for use against the old liners.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 1.—(AP)—Members of the Virginia Military institute first football eleven, having received a rest Monday and Tuesday of this week, are down to hard training again, looking toward the Davidson college game here Saturday.

Members of the first string eleven, however, were the only ones to receive the rest, as a result of meeting two strong teams on successive week-ends with only one substitution. The reserves have been put through overtime workouts all week.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 1.—(AP)—Washington and Lee's Generals today entered their fourth day of intensive and concentrated practice in preparation for the Virginia game Saturday.

The third stringers are being used in Cavalier plays, is being used against the varsity this week and the Generals are finding stiff opposition.

EMORY, VA., November 1.—(AP)—When Emory and Henry tackles little Tusculum college on the gridiron here Saturday, the Wasps will be trying for their eighteenth straight victory. The local college team has beaten all comers for two years, overwhelming most opponents.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 1.—(AP)—The Cadets of Virginia Military institute have found an "iron man" gridiron system effective and expect to continue letting the starting eleven without a substitution and the Cadets upset Virginia, 9 to 0. Last Saturday only one substitute was made, brought about by an injury, and Maryland was tied.

UNIVERSITY, MISS., November 1.—(AP)—Driving his men through strenuous workouts, regardless of the tilt here Saturday on the homecoming day program against the powerful Clemson eleven, leaders in the southern conference race.

Tadpole Scouts stands out in the week's practices as a ground gainer of ability and the shifty back will be there.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., November 1.—(AP)—Injuries have forced Del White, Michigan's star halfback, out of the coming Illinois game, but his spirit and football cunning will be there.

Whittle, a Chicago youth, has evolved a secret football play. In practice it has been so successful that Coach Tadelman plans to use it against the Illini.

Smithies Here Today; B.H.S. Is In Moultrie

Savannah High Plays T.H.S. at Spillers; Purple Squad on Road.

Two of Atlanta's leading prep football teams will flash in action this afternoon at home and abroad.

Here in the city Tech High will be shooting the works against a strong bunch of football players from Savannah High school at Spillers' while the Purple Hurricane of Boys' High will be blowing with all its force against the bulwarks of Moultrie High school in Moultrie.

Both games promise to be bitterly contested with the Smith-Savannah contest having quite a bit to do with the race for 1929 Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic association honors.

Coach Tolbert has had his big squad hard at work all week for the invaders and unless his men suffer a let-down following the game last Saturday with Male High, in Louisville, Ky., which the Smithies won, then the Atlanta outfit should give Savannah a hard battle.

Savannah will face a lineup of Grubbs and Vess at ends, Mullins and Henderson at tackles, Davis and Morris at guards, MacNamara at center, Hutt, quarter; Mott and Boyd at halves, and Hadley at fullback.

The visitors' opening lineup will be Cox and Greenberg at ends, C. Opper and Heriot at tackles, J. Johnson and Jenkins at guards, Morrow at center, Hart, quarter; Dyer, and G. Johnson at halves and Gaillard at fullback.

Boys' High is taking its game with Moultrie quite seriously, realizing that the south Georgia Packers have a good, strong team.

A Star Back.

In Isom the Packers have one of the best backs in the state. He is not only large and heavy but is also shifty and elusive and is bound to cause trouble for any opposition. Last week he was the star in a victory over the defeated 31-0. Isom demonstrated his ability by making one run for 60 yards and one of 40 yards. Redfern of Moultrie is not only unbeaten, but that will be watching. The defense of the Packers in the game against Beinebridge left nothing to be desired.

The third stringers are being used in Cavalier plays, is being used against the varsity this week and the Generals are finding stiff opposition.

EMORY, VA., November 1.—(AP)—When Emory and Henry tackles little Tusculum college on the gridiron here Saturday, the Wasps will be trying for their eighteenth straight victory. The local college team has beaten all comers for two years, overwhelming most opponents.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 1.—(AP)—Washington and Lee's Generals today entered their fourth day of intensive and concentrated practice in preparation for the Virginia game Saturday.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 1.—(AP)—The Cadets of Virginia Military institute have found an "iron man" gridiron system effective and expect to continue letting the starting eleven without a substitution and the Cadets upset Virginia, 9 to 0. Last Saturday only one substitute was made, brought about by an injury, and Maryland was tied.

UNIVERSITY, MISS., November 1.—(AP)—Driving his men through strenuous workouts, regardless of the tilt here Saturday on the homecoming day program against the powerful Clemson eleven, leaders in the southern conference race.

Tadpole Scouts stands out in the week's practices as a ground gainer of ability and the shifty back will be there.

The SPORTLIGHT

Something like 80,000 people will be present when "The Buckeye Battle Cry" and the stirring strains of "Old Nassau" echo and re-echo through Columbus on Saturday.

It so happens that Ohio State and Princeton, representing the mid-west and the east, have managed to remain unbeaten, with November ripples along, and this is quite an achievement, as football goes. It doesn't mean as much on the Princeton side as it does for Ohio State, for up to date Princeton has taken no chances to speak of, and has also bumped into a tie. Ohio State has played the much stronger schedule and has come through extremely well.

So in tomorrow's game Ohio State's strength is pretty well known, and Princeton's is still a guess. It is to be reasoned that the true November Princeton team hasn't yet shown its strength.

Ohio State is at least three touchdowns better than the football Princeton has shown so far, but that doesn't mean that Ohio State will be three touchdowns against the team Bill Roper will send into action on Saturday afternoon. In the last few years Roper has been lugging his teams along slowly, showing little in October. But with his full strength firing all three barrels in the November fighting, he has been another party.

The Tiger will have to be an entirely different beast to escape snuffing at Columbus. He will have to improve something more than 100 per cent over anything he has shown so far. And even then it is no certainty he can duck back to the jungle with his hide intact.

Jack Wilce and Ohio State. Dr. John Wilce is completing his last season at Ohio State, and his team is going to make every known effort to give him one of his greatest years.

When he leaves the game Ohio State loses a fine coach and football loses one of the finest of all sportsmen connected with the game.

He has had fewer victories, fewer excuses, fewer complaints than any coach I ever knew. He also has been more willing in defeat to give the other coach and the other team full credit than any coach I ever knew. And the big majority of football coaches stand as high as you will find leaders in any field of sport.

Dr. Wilce would be an exceptional sportsman in golf, polo, tennis or what you will. I once heard a crowd of some what indignant alumni ask him why Illinois scored a certain winning touchdown.

"This play," said Dr. White, "was due to the keen coaching of Bob Zuppke, and it was a play for which I had prepared no defense." That is about 100 per cent answer on the straight-away.

Some Big Shots.

Georgetown and New York University are not only unbeaten, but they are two of the best teams in football. There's a game that will be all football—and one of the most decisive of the year.

Then there are Southern California and Stanford, another pair of strong teams who are running neck and neck along the Pacific coast.

Should Eustace face the big Kansas here Tuesday it, in all probability, will be one of the best matches seen in Atlanta in some time. Both men are big, have fast and capable giving anybody a tough scrap. Eustace displayed in the Sauer match that he knows his holds and can apply them.

He would give Browning one of the toughest matches he has ever had.

Joe Dundee Offered $40,000 for Fight

San Francisco, November 1.—(AP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of the Monarch Athletic club, announced today that he had telegraphed an offer of $40,000 to Joe Dundee, welterweight boxing champion, to defend his title against Jackie Fields in a bout in San Francisco.

Hoffman said he had signed Fields for the bout.

HUBERT OF THE HUB.

Dear Sir: It is said that Tack Hardwick, of Harvard, practiced blocking with a friendly cow for an opponent. Well, Bronko Nagurski developed his driving power by handling two bags of cement, instead of the ordinary load of one, during his summer vacation. The big Gopher, by the way, is not a Norseman. He's a Bohemian, and says Bronko is a common name among people of that race.

TWIN CITIES.

It might be noted, even this far in advance, that the old Yale-Harvard-Princeton triangular argument will be one of the best in years, with Yale facing in both directions as Harvard and Princeton pass without exchanging looks.

"The only way," writes Ell, "for Yale to settle the dispute is to beat 'em both." That at least is one way, if it happens to work out.

You don't hear so much about Lou Little, of Georgetown, but his average will stand any comparison you may want to make. He always comes along with a smart, fast team, and it will be this type of team that New York university must face tomorrow in a game that will end one winning streak or lead to a tie.

SEAWANE, TENN., November 1.—(AP)—The line is giving Seawane's coaches their greatest workout in preparation against the strong offensive of the Florida eleven which will meet Saturday. Butler, who is being tried out for that position, may not start, but he is sure to play. The rest of the line will start as it did last Saturday against Alabama, since the team emerged from the one-sided game with only a few minor injuries. Ezzell has not been able to make scrimmage this week, but if he recovers from his injuries he will start as end, with Di Ovie, who looked good at scrimmage this afternoon, at the other end.

BATON ROUGE, LA., November 1.—(AP)—With such footballers as Debie Reeves, Stovall and Luker to hit the line for the Louisiana State Tiger in their annual clash Saturday against Arkansas University the squad of light and speedy backs feel certain of a chance against the Porker at Shreveport even if it pours. Reeves especially has shown a lot of power in ramming the opponents' forewalls.

The Tiger squad, 26 players strong and in perfect physical condition, left this afternoon for Marshall, Texas, for a brief limbering up, to remain there until a few hours before their effort to blot out the 1927 defeat inflicted by the Fayetteville Porker.

Secondary men showed to advantage in last-minute polishing up against aerial attacks and featured in the battling down of passes.

Reports bear the news of a virtual sell-out of tickets for the game, the big event of the annual state fair.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., November 1.—(AP)—Injuries have forced Del White, Michigan's star halfback, out of the coming Illinois game, but his spirit and football cunning will be there.

Miss. Aggies Face Michigan State Eleven

31 Players and 500 Supporters Board "Coach Wade Special" in Alabama.

BY HORACE C. RENEGAR.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

The invasion of Alabama's Crimson Tide into the middle west over shadows all else in the Dixie football cyclorama this week with Southern conference followers holding hopes of a major intercollegiate victory in the conflict of Madison.

Carrying some 500 supporters, "The Coach Wade Special" train left Tuscaloosa Thursday en route to Wisconsin, scene of the Tide-Badger battle and the spirit of the Captains was high. Thirty-one players were on the squad carried to Madison.

Cloud of Doubt.

The Crimson carried a cloud of doubt, however, as it was still undecided whether Flash Suther or Tony Holm, star backs, will be able to get in the game. Both were out of final practice because of injuries.

Suther can pass and punt as well as run while Holm is a great power in hitting the line. Vines, Rogers, Campbell and Hicks have been running together in the backfield this week and may be the starting combination.

Wade's team will take the field against the Badgers following a week of defense on forward passes, the team failing to satisfy last week in breaking up Sewane's overhead game while it was a touchdown by air that dyked the Tide against Tennessee.

While Alabama is shooting the works against Wisconsin, Mississippi A. & M.'s Maroon eleven will also be fighting in the same region. Coach John Hancock will throw Pappenheimer and mates against Michigan State at Lansing with the hope that the team will find itself following numerous reverses in the south.

Rival Teams Clash.

A feature of this week's card is the number of games between near and ancient rivals—none of the contests holding general importance but containing a world of rivalry.

It will be just such an embroglio at Raleigh when the Tarheels of North Carolina tangle with North Carolina State's Wolfpack. Recent showings have given little to choose between the two eleven.

Virginia's hattered Cavaliers and a somewhat wobbly group of Washington and Lee Generals will have another such affair on tap at Charlottesville, the record of both being only fair yet a victory Saturday will lighten the atmosphere considerably for the winner.

Then there is the Georgia-Auburn contest. The Bulldogs in meeting the Tigers at Columbus, Ga., will be renewing a feud that started in 1892 and which has been fought through 32 games with Auburn having won 15 to for seven, while four games resulted in scoreless ties.

Tigers Plan Aerial Attack Against Bulldogs Saturday

Auburn Sends Full Strength To Columbus

Taxworth and Ingram Will Be Cause of Much Worry on Part of Georgians.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
According to the way they're talking to themselves down in Auburn, the Tiger of the Plains will attempt to take to the air tomorrow afternoon at Columbus when it plays the University of Georgia's Bulldog for the thirty-third time in one of the south's outstanding classics of the gridiron.

The Auburn lads held a test flight last Saturday in scoring a 25-6 triumph over small Howard college. Judging from the score the attempt was far from being disastrous, for it brought about the first victory meet that a hungry Tiger has found in his last 15 starts in football games.

Two Leaders.
Two lads, Taxworth and Ingram by name, led this aerial charge that sent such a wave of devastation through the ranks of Howard. They had the Howard lads going and coming. Taxworth intercepted one forward flip and a moment later tossed in Howard to add to the total Auburn points. Another intercepted pass was turned into a score by the Juncos, and they also scored their first touchdown on a pass, which speaks rather forcefully in favor of the Tigers when they decide to emulate fearless bird-men.

The effectiveness of this forward-passing on the part of Auburn might, quite naturally, have been due in a large measure to the inability of Howard to complete with such a method of attack. Georgia this year has been effective in a fair-to-middling way against passing attacks.

There was that occasion on the thrilling afternoon of Saturday last in Athens when Tulane literally filled the air with passes. The Greenies worked the ball down to Georgia's 20-yard line or thereabouts and began chucking. The Bulldog broke through and time and time again the ball was up in the air. The number attempted was up in the early twenties, and the number completed eight.

With improved end play, which Georgia is getting, we would be inclined to believe that Auburn passes Saturday are going to be rushed by a sprightly pair of flankers and especially so if Glenn Maffet plays the sort of football as displayed Saturday against Tulane.

Line Must Be Good.
Attempting to become psychic again, it would appear that Auburn's biggest chance for a victory, if any, lies in a superior line. Anyone will admit that Georgia's line, never too powerful, is greatly weakened by the absence at center of Joe Bolland, dependable, methodical and effective center, who has a cracked kneecap and will, in all likelihood, be out for a couple more games.

It has been understood that Boller is also carrying a truckload of line material to Columbus tomorrow in an attempt to stop the Georgia Bulldog in this manner. It is the best way to stop the crush of the bench-legged animal—to have a superior line.

But no matter what means of strategy is to be devised by the coach of either team, there'll be a fight tomorrow in Columbus. This Bulldog-Tiger scrap has been a mainstay in the south's football program for some 33 or more years. Scores, with few

Aerial Defenses.

NEWS comes from Nashville that the Commodores are brushing up their passing attack for the assault on Tech at the flats next week. Which brings up a question much argued among football followers and much misunderstood by many.

Talking with a football fan the other day we were eulogizing the Jacket defense and elicited the following reply, "Tech has a great defense against everything but passes but their foes certainly can complete a lot of passes against the Jacket defenders."

This statement is true in part but only in a very small part. It is true that opponents of the Jackets have completed 40 passes against the Tornado this season but no foe has crossed the Jacket goal line after receiving an aerial heave. No foe has completed a pass near the Jacket goal line.

As a matter of football fact, the Tornado defense against passing has been almost superhuman thus far. Any team that can have two score passes completed against them in four games and never have one go for a touchdown is doing remarkably well.

For an example of this look at the North Carolina game when 16 passes were completed. All but two of these passes were in the flat zone with the Jackets using a zone defense. Under the conditions no attempt is made to keep the enemy from completing the passes, all the defense backs and center are supposed to do is nail the receiver when he gets the ball. This was done with such telling effect in the North Carolina game that passes were actually completed for losses three times.

When the Jackets fell back in the shade of their own goal posts and assume the diamond defense no team has yet been able to complete a pass. To be sure, that time may come but, the Tornado pass defense is by no means vulnerable.

Possibility.

SOMEHOW it is just a bit hard to believe that the Yellow Jackets will have any picnic Saturday when they meet the crippled and much-beaten Petrels from Oglethorpe. There's something about that annual game that always threatens to kick the dope bucket into the south stands upside down.

The Jackets certainly should be able to win the game about as they please and even the most pessimistic fail to see more than a bare chance of victory for the Petrels but there is always that chance. Just for sake of argument consider the following: The Petrels catch the Jackets flat-footed and score a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. The Jackets realize they are behind but they keep thinking a touchdown is bound to come sooner or later. Then up pops the last period and the time is getting short. A desperate rally fails to get the extra points and the game is a tie or a defeat for the Jackets.

Such a vision is not likely to materialize but it is always possible and you may bet your bottom dollar that the Petrels will play about 50 per cent better against the Tornado than they have against any foe this season.

There's a world of tradition in these annual struggles and it can't help but play its part. Auburn may sail through the air to victory or go through Georgia's line. Or, more probable, Georgia's backs will sweep around the ends of off-tackle to score a win.

There'll be memories of the heroic feats performed by earlier stars of either school and it's that sort of thing that makes one of these traditional affairs an interesting football game.

Bulldogs Tear Up Rat Line; McCrary Hurt

Star Fullback Slightly Injured and May Not See Service Saturday.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., November 1.—(Special.)—There's no denying these Georgia Bulldogs have a great offensive team. The gridiron machine that can rip through a line like that of the Red and Black freshmen must have something behind it. Rumor says that bets are freely offered around Athens that the Bulldogs will score on every team they play this year, even though they may not win all of their remaining five engagements.

On the defense, it is a different story. The tackling of the Athenians has been far below par this year and were it not for a few great defensive hours such as Frank Lindt not more than 35 points would have been scored against them.

Boys Look Good.

As a whole the appearance of the Georgia boys good Thursday afternoon against the excellent freshman team of Gene Smith's. Despite great work on the part of Rose, Lynn, V. the ball, a fullback named Bennett from Albany, cracked the varsity line more than a few times for gains of from three to eight yards.

It is possible, though improbable, that neither McCrary nor Rothstein will see service against Auburn. Both fullbacks are not in the best of shape at present and the line plunging duties may fall to the lot of Gerdine and Cox. McCrary's leg was hurt again Thursday afternoon though not very seriously and Rothstein was absent from practice on account of a charley horse and other minor ailments.

Tommy Gerdine, who was running at fullback most of the Thursday session, has shown much improvement this week and is a member of the Red Devil eleven he has often shown a great deal of power against the varsity. It is more than likely that he will play at a post of the Auburn game. Armin Waukh, halfback of last year's freshman team, is also looking good as a ball carrier.

Stelling Hurt.

Cree Stelling, junior tackle, had an old wound reopened this afternoon when his knee was smashed. According to Stelling this same knee was hurt last season in prep school and is the fourth time it has been knocked loose since he came to Georgia. He has worn a brace on the injured member for a number of years.

CITADEL PLAYS SOUTH CAROLINA TO A O-T-O-TIE

Orangeburg, S. C., November 1.—(P)—Showing an unexpectedly stiff defense in the first half, fair offensive in the second and aided by fumbles of the opposition the Citadel Bulldogs, of Charleston held Bill Laval's South Carolina Gamecocks to a scoreless tie in the Orangeburg fair grounds football field here today. Approximately 8,000 persons saw the game.

With plenty of elements to make the game spectacular at times, neither side showed a sustained offensive, though Carolina, slow in starting, was halted by the intermission, after beginning a stiff drive for the Cadets' goal line late in the second quarter. The Gamecocks had the Cadets on the defense during much of the second half until toward the close when Citadel started a counter-offensive.

Winningly registered a 48-yard run in the third quarter but was brought down from behind by Dick King on Citadel's 33-yard stripe. Zobel, held in reserve until the final period also returned a Citadel punt for 31 yards while Howie, of the Cadets ripped off one for 35 yards.

With good punting shown by both sides, Citadel was noticeably weak in passing, seven attempts in the first half all failing. Carolina opened her game end while passes were completed for substantial yardage, one in the third quarter, the strongest scoring threat made by either team, failed when Hernan, with a clear field before him, missed Carlisle Beall's pass from Citadel's 33-yard line.

Carolina made nine first downs to Citadel's four.

Young Jackets Play A-M Today

Firpo Martin's Grey Devils, the punishment bounds at Georgia Tech, will invade Monroe Friday to take on Red Barron's Argonauts.

The squad has gone through the same course of light treatment as the varsity outfit, and is in good shape for the fray. Coach Martin has been working up the Oglethorpe and Vanderbilt plays for presentation to the varsity and has kept his men busy all week.

The Devils, 23 in all, leave this morning at 9 o'clock for Monroe, along with two managers and four men ineligible for varsity ball. They are: Ends, Morrison, Jetton, Brenner; tackles, Whitworth, Daniel; guards, Wingo, North, O'Beary; center, Cain; quarterbacks, Frink, Russell, Hale; halfbacks, Ramsey, Colvin, Moretta, Isaacs, Channell, Flowers; fullbacks, Hauck, Heeke. The other four men are Little, Fincher, Murray and Millan. Managers Strickland and Little will accompany the team.

The starting lineup will probably place Brenner and Jetton at the flanks, Daniel and Whitworth at tackles, Wingo and North at guards, and Cain at center. The backfield will be run by Hale, with Ramsey and Channell at the halves and Hauck at fullback.

Guards To Play Polo Here Sunday

There comes a time when even the scrub has his day and that day is Sunday so far as regards polo in Atlanta when teams representing the first and second platoons of the Governor's Horse Guard clash in a polo game on the field at Piedmont park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

As the regular team of the Horse Guards and Fort McPherson have no game scheduled this affair will substitute for the usual game at Fort Mac. Competition is very keen among the two teams, composed of those men trying for the polo squad and a very good game is in prospect.

The winner of the game will be awarded a silver loving cup donated by the regular Horse Guard team. There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Club Owners Of Southern Meet Monday

Memphis, Tenn., November 1.—(P)—Whether the split season, which was tried out in the Southern association for the first time this year, will get another trial is to be decided by the league directors at their annual meeting here Monday.

The meeting, which will pass on the records of the last season and enact a legislative program for the coming year, also will elect a president, league statistician, auditor and board of trustees. The term of President John D. Martin expires this fall.

In order to get off to an early start so the directors can complete their business in one day and return home in time to vote, Mr. Martin wired them today suggesting that the meeting open at 9 a. m., instead of 10, the time originally set. It will be held at the Peabody hotel.

Another meeting will be held later in the year to adopt a playing schedule.

Club owners who will attend the meeting here Monday are: W. D. Smith, of Birmingham; Thomas R. Watkins, of Memphis; A. J. Heine, of New Orleans; Frank Harrison, of Chattanooga; Jack Whaley, of Nashville; W. A. Douglas, of Mobile; Rell J. Spiller, of Atlanta, and Robert Allen, of Little Rock.

TECH, GEORGIA HARRIERS MEET HERE SATURDAY

Those of the populace who get inside the gates of Grant field Saturday afternoon are to see a double attraction. In addition to the Jacket-Petrel fray on the gridiron, the White and Gold clashes with Georgia's Red and Black for the first time of the present school year when the Bulldog harriers come to Atlanta to meet the Jacket cross-country squad at Tech.

The run will be started during the latter minutes of the second quarter of the grid affair, and will finish on Grant field during the half.

The Bulldogs bring a strong outfit with them, their aces of last season, Young and Talmadge, being still as fast as ever.

Coach Barron expects to start a seven-man team composed of Brewer, Crisfield, Summerour, Owen, Morgan, and Coker. Brewer, who is the captain and number one man on the Jacket team, should win the trek, but Young always offers good opposition. The Tech squad is much weaker than its predecessor, judging from the time trials, but reports from Athens show a similar condition exists there, and the meet should be a close one.

BOSTONIANS

The TROJAN

BOSTONIANS ARE CERTAINLY STYLED TO please the most exacting eye, and to please the hard-to-fit foot with easy-to-wear comfort. When you see and feel your first pair of Bostonians on your feet, they'll be as good as sold. And their cost is so low you can easily have two pairs instead of one.

Amateur Rule Is Criticized By Dr. Curtis

Physical Director in Missouri Rips Present Standards in 'Sportmanship.'

New York, November 1.—(P)—Sharp criticism of the present amateur athletic standards is made in the current issue of the new publication, "Sportmanship," by Dr. Her Stoddard Curtis, state director of physical education in Missouri and former secretary and vice president of the Playground Association of America.

"Our present amateur rule makes an infinite amount of trouble without getting anywhere," said Dr. Curtis in an article entitled, "What is an Amateur?"

"It is directed solely against the poor fellow, but in his case, it is nearly always violated in spirit if not in letter. It is a carry-over from aristocratic Europe that is not justified in democratic America."

"The poor man cannot afford to give the amount of time that intercollegiate athletics take in order to make a spectacle for others. If we give him an athletic scholarship or compensate him at current prices for the time taken, we shall only put him on the same basis as the other fellow who does not need to make his way."

"If we believe that playing on the team is service to the school should be required of the struggling student that it be free."

The type of play which is represented in intercollegiate contests Dr. Curtis says "is semi-professional."

"It is not supposed to be rewarded directly in money although it often is, but it is rewarded in publicity, in social position, in hero worship, in jobs, in travel, vacations, and in many other ways."

This type of athlete, as represented by the college football star, is contrasted by Dr. Curtis on the one hand with "the true amateur who plays without looking for applause or spectators" and on the other with the "type of amateur play" which "Elden, Fiddick and Miss Leungin represent."

"While they are making a profession and a living from the occupations they follow," said Dr. Curtis, "they are not paid directly in money."

"Tilden has played tennis nearly every day for years and, in one way or another has made his living by it, but a high school boy who plays an exhibition game at a fair and receives five dollars for it is a professional all the rest of his life not only in tennis but in football and baseball as well."

"The sortness of the standard is evident. It says that there is no other reward but money and there is no way in which the well-to-do can become professional."

Declaring that one of the fallacies regarding the present rule is that the amateur rule as now practiced secures the participation of large numbers, Dr. Curtis asserts:

"It would be well if the period of competition in all the larger universities could be limited to one year for each major sport."

"Certainly the rule of some of the conferences that no one should compete during his freshman year should be universal. The athlete should not be allowed to compete in any college in any sport for more than three years, and he should be expected to make satisfactory grades in the required number of subjects."

Eastern Crid Teams on Way To Face Foes

Penn and Princeton Games Will Feature Card in East Saturday.

New York, November 1.—(AP)—It was "jumping off" day today for a number of the east's leading college football eleven.

Pennsylvania and Princeton, scheduled to engage in two of the biggest intercollegiate contests this Saturday, enroute for the west, Princeton for Columbus, Ohio, and Penn for Chicago. The Tigers, who face undefeated Ohio State, went through a long signal drill before boarding the train. Just before Penn hopped off for the mid-west where Chicago will be encountered, Lou Young took occasion to deny reports that he would start his second team against Alonzo Stagg's much-mauled Maroons.

Cornell's Gloomy.

Cornell's squad, 35 strong, left Ithaca for New York, where the clash with Columbia will be staged at Baker field. Injuries to several regulars made "Gloomy Gil" Dobie gloomier than usual.

Badly crippled but not especially dohearted, the Presidents, of Washington and Jefferson, enroute for their annual battle with Lafayette. Lehigh's football squad left Bethlehem at the same time for Cambridge where Harvard is to be met.

Pittsburgh ended preparations for the strong Syracuse aggregation which is due to arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning.

Army's second team, which is expected to start against De Pauw, did most of the practice work at West Point. The varsity did nothing but listen to a recital of their mistakes in the Yale game as related by the coaches.

The Navy's varsity scored twice on the scrubs in preparation for West Virginia Wesleyan.

With the reserves using Georgetown place, New York university put in an intensive workout for Saturday's battle against the Blue and Gray. Both teams are undefeated and untied and the battle at the Yankee stadium looms as the most important of the day viewed from an eastern championship angle.

Reserves to Play.

Second and third string players will fill Dartmouth's backfield for the Yale game. Jess Hawley announced. With Al Marsters and Fred Brethout injured, Hawley said he would rely on a defensive game for the most part, hoping to keep Yale's score down then, if the opportunity presents itself he hopes to insert into the lineup either Marsters or Brethout for forward passing purposes.

A short dummy scrimmage and signal drill ended Penn State's preparations for the battle with Notre Dame at Philadelphia.

MORRIS BROWN, TENNESSEESTATE MIX HERE TODAY

Morris Brown university meets the strong aggregation of Tennessee State college of Nashville, Tenn., on the Morris Brown university flats at 2:30 o'clock today.

Coach Canady's boys will be tough for the visitors, whom they defeated last year, but a much better team than the one representing the Purple this year. Most of the team this year is of green material, with only four letter men on the squad. They have thus far this season lost two conference games, but not until after a real battle. Each game lost was by a touchdown margin.

It is reported that the Wolverines will have a much better machine on the field today, with Tyler, the versatile quarterback, leading the attack, aided by Evans, Alexander and Bull Williams, a line plunger of rare ability, will be no easy setup for the Tennesseans.

In the Morris Brown line there's plenty of strength. Up until this game Coach Canady has not been able to start his full strength in the line owing to injuries, which have been plentiful. Clemmons, all-American tackle, Brown at center and Captain White, at left end, will be towers of strength on the defensive side today.

The visitors arrived late Thursday afternoon, a squad of 26 men and two coaches, and went immediately to Morris Brown, where they will be guests of the institution over the week-end. Red Gadsden, famous fullback, who has been leading the Tennessee attack, will be seen in action. He is considered one of the best backs in the conference.

Howard Bulldogs, Mississippi Tie

Birmingham, Ala., November 1.—(AP)—The Howard Bulldogs and Mississippi college fought to a 6-6 draw here this afternoon, with teams featuring passes and punting often.

A spectacular 83-yard run by Bradley, halfback, brought Howard its touchdown in the first period. Mississippi college scored in the final period after passing up to the 13-yard line from where Metts, full back, plunged through tackle for a touchdown. Tries for extra points were blocked.

Heights Five Plays Grant Park Tonight

Western Heights and Grant Park basketball teams will meet on the English Avenue school court Friday night at 8 o'clock.

The Heights boys have a very strong team this season, having almost the same club that played in the Dixie league and also three other fine players in Riley, Moon and Nichols, former Boys' High star.

The Park team is composed of former high school boys such as Skinny Hamm, Hoke Freeman and others and according to advance dope the battle will be hard fought all the way as the Heights lads haven't lost a game out of six starts and the Park club will be fighting to hand them the first licking of the season.

New Stadium.

Madison, Wis., November 1.—(AP)—Plans for a new $400,000 intramural sports hall at the University of Wisconsin were announced today by George E. Little, director of athletics. Mr. Little said the proposed structure would be added in the two-year university athletic program of the board of regents, whose finance committee meets Friday and Saturday.

A Sports Scribe.

Johnny Neun, of the Detroit Tigers, is also a sports writer in Baltimore. He predicts his new manager, Bucky Harris, will be found at third base next year.

Von Porat Says He'll Kayo Uzzu

New York, November 1.—(United News.)—Otto von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, arrived in New York today from Chicago and boasted to newspapermen that he would knock out Paulino Uzcudun, basque heavyweight, in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Monday night. Paulino has never been knocked out, but Von Porat openly predicted he would "knock the basque cold."

"When I face Paulino," he said, "I shall demonstrate the superiority of science over pure brute strength. I shall outbox the basque, and when I have sparred my way to the proper opening, I will knock him out. Since

Dunn Was Good Pilot.

Jacksonville Site Of Clemson Game

Gainesville, Fla., November 1.—(AP)—The Florida-Clemson football game, originally scheduled to be played at Tampa on November 17, has been transferred to Jacksonville for that date, Everett M. Yon, athletic director of the University of Florida, announced today. The announcement was made after Yon had been in communication with James G. Gee, Clemson mentor, and the transfer agreed upon. The Florida-Clemson game will be one of the most important in the south on that date, and the transfer will give Jacksonville four conference contests this season.

Nine Golfers Accept Hawaiian Invitation

Honolulu, November 1.—(AP)—Nine prominent professional golfers have accepted invitations to compete in the first Hawaiian open golf championship tournament, opening November 20. Those who have accepted invitations are William Mehlhorn, Chicago; Johnny Golden, Preckness, N. J.;

Cyril Walker, Stockbridge, Mass.; Billy Burke, Port Chester, N. J.; Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Roland Hancock, Wilmington, N. C.; Harry Cooper, Clarence, N. Y.; Al Espinosa, West Glencoe, Ill.; Charlie Chang, former amateur champion, Redlands, Calif. Invitations have also been sent to a dozen other leading professional golfers. Tournament prizes will total $5,000.

Atlanta D. A. R. Attends Series Of Patriotic and Social Affairs

Mrs. Howard McCall attended the laying of the corner stone of Constitution Hall, the two million dollar auditorium of the national D. A. R., being built in Washington, D. C., the ceremony taking place last Wednesday with Mrs. Calvin Coolidge presiding the first mortar with the historic trowel used by George Washington in laying the cornerstone of the United States' capitol in 1793. Mrs. Coolidge also put her own and the president's cards in the copper container which was placed within the corner stone and sealed with appropriate ceremony by representatives of the Potomac Lodge, No. 5, F. A. A. M., custodians of the famous trowel.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president general D. A. R., in making her brief address upon the occasion which has such an important meaning to members of this patriotic organization in Georgia said, "The building of Constitution Hall, marks one more step in completing that far flung plan of Major L'Enfant for making Washington the most beautiful city in the world. She pledged the organization to uphold the constitution of the United States in both letter and spirit."

Mrs. McCall, Mrs. Brosseau, and Mrs. Frank Ellison, of Massachusetts, are in Williamsburg, Va., today to attend a luncheon given by the Virginia D. A. R. at the Virginia Historical society, and this evening, these ladies will be honor guests at a dinner given in Jamestown. Mrs. McCall is past regent of Georgia, D. A. R., and holds the resolution chairmanship of the state organization, and is a member of the Officers' club of the national patriotic body. The invitation to attend these patriotic and social affairs was extended to Mrs. McCall by Mrs. Brosseau.

Nashville Visitors

To Be Honored
By Atlantans

Among the prominent Nashville, Tenn., residents planning to attend the Tech-Vanderbilt football game, to be played on Grant field Saturday, November 10, are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rye, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buntin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bass, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgibbon Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Duncan Eve, Jr., Mrs. Don Buntin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tyne, Jr., and Dr. Paul Tyne. Several social affairs will honor the visitors, among these being the breakfast given preceding the game by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster Medd at Woodhaven, their home on Pace's Ferry road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gardner, former Nashvillians, and recent additions to Atlanta society, will entertain a group of these visitors at the dinner-dance given that same evening at the Piedmont Driving club.

League of Women Voters Holds Ballot Class.

A class in ballot-marking, conducted by Mrs. R. L. Turman, prominent Atlanta woman, and an address by Smyth Gambrell, Atlanta lawyer, will feature the meeting to be held under the auspices of the Atlanta League of Women Voters Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chamber of commerce. It is the aim of the league to so instruct women in the use of the ballot that its intricate form will in no way confuse them. The class is open to the public.

Mr. Gambrell will talk on the attitudes of Smith and Towner, as revealed in their acceptance speeches, towards national problems such as immigration, water power, tariff, prohibition and agriculture. This information will be of a strictly non-partisan nature, being a resume of the acceptance speeches where they dealt with these issues.

An exhibit, arranged by the league, showing ballots from the presidential election of 1924, league literature on the present campaign and copies of the platforms of the two national parties will be shown. A list of the other national parties, with the names of their candidates, will be on display.

Mrs. Jernigan Entertains

For Mrs. William A. Smith.

Mrs. A. L. Jernigan was hostess at a spend-the-day bridge party Tuesday at her apartment, 705 Piedmont avenue, in compliment to Mrs. William Armstrong Smith, formerly of Birmingham, Ala. The guests were Mesdames Charles Moore, E. L. Stevens, Harry Boone, J. Lewis Hargrave, Harry Jones, Bennett Conyers and Miss Martha Lawhe.

Mizell - Jones Wedding Plans Are of Interest

The wedding plans of Miss Julia Mizell and Charles B. Jones are of interest. The marriage will be solemnized at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 3, at the Presbyterian church in College Park, Dr. J. G. Patton, the pastor, will perform the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of relatives and friends.

Following the ceremony the young couple will leave immediately for a wedding tour. They will make their home in College Park.

Miss Mizell is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mizell and is the descendant of two old southern families of Confederate fame, being a granddaughter of the late Dr. W. B. Conway, of Athens, formerly of Virginia, a captain in the fourth Virginia cavalry.

On her paternal side she is the granddaughter of W. C. Mizell, Sr., of Oazark, Ala., who was also an officer in the Alabama division of the Confederate army.

Mrs. Jones, a native of Vincennes, Ind., is now in business in Atlanta. Many social courtesies have been preceding their wedding.

St. Luke's Members Give Silver Tea.

The ladies of St. Luke's Episcopal church will give a silver tea at the home of Mrs. E. E. Dallas, 3540 Peachtree road Friday, November 2, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. No cards have been sent and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the parish to attend. Strangers and newcomers are especially invited.

Mrs. Dallas will be assisted by Mrs. R. N. High Moor, Mrs. Joseph Williams, Mrs. H. F. West and Miss Palmer Dallas and a group of her young friends will assist in serving.

Fort McPherson Chapel Guild Will Plan Welfare Program

Fort McPherson, November 1.—The Chapel guild of Fort McPherson holds the first meeting of the fall season Monday afternoon, November 5, at 3 o'clock at the Officers club. The guild is a welfare organization and the ladies of the garrison are invited to attend the meeting, at which the privilege of membership will be extended to non-members. Mesdames Abraham G. Lott, president; Simon J. Sena, secretary, and Augustus B. Jones, secretary, will be hostesses.

Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey will be hostess to the members of her bridge club Tuesday afternoon.

Thursday evening Miss Margaret Halk entertained at a party in honor of Fraulein Hedwig Werner, of Berlin, Germany. The entertainment was a typical German evening with conversation confined to the German tongue and a program of German music. The guest list included the members of the advanced German class of Herr C. H. Hamff at Emory university.

Misses Harriet and Barbara Ann Ramsey entertained a group of small friends at a costume party at their quarters in the garrison Wednesday evening. The table was gaily decorated with grinning pumpkin faces and colorful autumn leaves. Little Miss Harriet Ramsey received her guests in a "Red Devil" costume while Miss Barbara Ann Ramsey donned a pirate's costume with gay red scarf.

Mrs. Fielder And Mrs. Freeman Feted During Visit Here

Among the lovely social affairs on Thursday's calendar was the informal luncheon at which Mrs. O. D. Bartlett entertained at her home on Peachtree circle, honoring her mother, Mrs. W. K. Fielder, of Cedar town, who is her guest for the week, and her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Freeman, of Senoia, who is visiting Mrs. Spencer Kirkland at her home on Linwood avenue. Covers were placed for a small group of close friends of the hostess and honor guests.

Colonel Fielder arrives from Cedar town Friday to join Mrs. Fielder and Mrs. Spencer Kirkland, who are at her home on Linwood avenue. Covers will be placed for a small group of close friends of the hostess and honor guests.

Presiding with Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president, will be the officers and past presidents of the club. The invitation is to club members and their friends and a number of honor guests. Reservations at $1.25 a plate may be made with Mrs. Alex C. King, official hostess of the Music club, Hemlock 7145.

Music Club Luncheon Features Mrs. Beach.

Many reservations are being made for the Music club luncheon to be given in the banquet hall of the Woman's club Wednesday, November 7, at 1 o'clock, honoring Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, distinguished composer and pianist, who appears that morning in recital as the second attraction of the Music club concert series, bringing together musicians, lovers of music and patrons of art, featuring an event of social as well as artistic prominence.

Presiding with Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president, will be the officers and past presidents of the club. The invitation is to club members and their friends and a number of honor guests. Reservations at $1.25 a plate may be made with Mrs. Alex C. King, official hostess of the Music club, Hemlock 7145.

Medical Auxiliary Holds Meeting.

The Fulton County Medical society meets at the Academy of Medicine Friday, November 2, at 11 o'clock. This meeting has been set aside as hospital day in the auxiliary.

The following ladies will give 10-minute talks on the work which is being done and the needs of the various hospitals: Mrs. Frank Holland, chairman of the Eggleston Memorial auxiliary; Mrs. Nat Kaiser, chairman of the Grady auxiliary, and Miss Annie Loyd Ligin, who will display some of the work being done by the children of the Scottish Rite hospital. Members are requested to bring their contribution to the pantry shower for the Eggleston Memorial hospital—either jelly or preserves—which the hospital is greatly in need of, also scraps of any kind and old silk stockings for the Scottish Rite hospital. Mrs. C. A. Rhodes is chairman of the hospital committee. Mrs. James N. Brewer is president.

THE NIGHTMARE

By GERALD MYGATT

SYNOPSIS. Patricia Shane, a belle entertained in one of New York's night clubs by Fanning Edgerton, is annoyed by the insinuating stare of a hawk-nosed man on the opposite side of the room. At the table with the hawk are a blonde, coarse-looking woman and a slight young man who appears to be drunk. The head waiter calls young Edgerton away from his table on a pretext, and as soon as he is gone the hawk approaches Patricia and tries to engage her in conversation. He is interrupted by a good looking young chap, known as Bart Stoman, after taking the blonde woman home, makes for his car, and there goes over a number of old newspaper clippings dealing with the disappearance of the 14-year-old daughter of Colonel La Verry, who offers a million dollar reward for the capture of the girl. Stoman glances over the fact that the pictures of Sylvia La Verry resemble the girl he saw in the cabaret with Fanning Edgerton, except for a red birthmark shown in the pictures.

INSTALLMENT II. A DEMONSTRATION OF POWER.

The doctor fumbled against the wall for a button, found it at length, and pressed it. The room went light. Again he nodded his head, smiling grimly.

"For two pennies I could murder them all," he thought. "But not now, not just yet. Some other day, perhaps. Ho-ho! Look at our splendid and self-possessed brother in crime, Mr. J. Bart Stoman."

He smiled delightedly, surveying the heavy figure that lay relaxed and sprawled half way across the big desk on its dais. Near him sat the greasy-headed plumpness of Queenie, fallen forward in her chair, breathing heavily. Over by the brick panel that did for a door the solid frame of the man Jake slumped against the wall. All of them like so many corpses!

"It speaks a universal language, my little machine," the bald man muttered, smiling at it. "It is international in scope. It knows neither sex nor age. One cannot plead with it, one cannot swap it to softness or mercy. It is perfect."

He glanced appraisingly at the two other figures in the room, both motionless. Both limp. Patricia sat hunched in her chair, her head slightly to one side, her arms dangling inside their bindings. Jimmy slumped back within his ropes, his wrists hanging slack between his knees, his eyes shut, his face gray and expressionless.

For a moment the man called the Doc rubbed his bald head as if in perplexity. Then he pursed his lips quizzically and strode to the inert form of Bart Stoman. He bent swiftly, straightened the hawk-nosed head, forced it back against his own nose. Then with his two thumbs he sought for and finally found the tiny channel-like creases within the bony structure of the eye sockets—one on each side and close to the root of the nose—which form part of the crossed wiring of the human nervous system.

"So," he grunted patiently, talking to himself aloud, after the habit of men who work or think much alone. "I now massage the super-orbital nerve. Soon you will yell, Bart, and then you will be awake. Ah, everything is so perfect with this new form of hypnosis—even the awakening. By the old process one must say 'Abacadabra' and snap the fingers often—a great effort and strain when many subjects must be handled. But with my innovation the awakening can be accomplished by any operator with the same mechanical ease with which the hypnosis itself is accomplished. Come, come, Stoman—open your eyes."

The hawk-nosed man shook his head suddenly. "Ouch!" he yelled. "That hurts, you damned fool! My eyes!" He blinked and sat up, smiling sheepishly. "Was—say, was I asleep, Doc?" he asked.

"Look about you, my friend. A tomb of living sleepers! Sybil! If I were Mr. Edison, Bart, this would be a historic occasion, for this is actually the first time I have used my machine before a group. Think man of its possibilities. When the next war comes, as it will, suppose one side or the other—I care little which so long as they pay in gold—suppose one side or the other should give the enemy a gigantic picture show, many shows, all along the line. The rest of the work can be done at leisure, for the enemy will be sound asleep."

"That fall," he whispered. "I don't understand it. Did I actually go over that cliff?"

The camera did, Bart—and for the moment the camera was you. Up to the last tunnel, of course, the photography was genuine, though what is called fast motion. From the tunnel out I used an old spur track on the edge of a mountain side quarry. The camera was placed on a hand car and actually ran over the edge—just over the edge, where ropes held it. Then the film was cut. But the result is a continuous effect.

"But the fall, Doc? I fell through the air incredible distances."

"I knew you would appreciate my researches, Bart. The fall was real, too, as far as the camera was concerned. There are many cliffs in the Sierras where a derrick can be set on the very edge and a camera's party lowered straight to the ground. Slow up your exposures and when the film is run off the fall seems swift. The bird was accidental, though a nice touch. The bird flew out from a ledge. The rest—the colored lights and my eye—tricks well known to hypnotists, though as a party filmed. I simply took the most fundamental terror known to mankind—the age-old terror of falling, of which we all have dreamed—and brought it up to date."

"Well—I'll be—damned!" The hawk-nosed man laughed uneasily. "I guess you're in command of the party all right, Doc. Now what do you do?"

"With whom?"

Stoman nodded toward Patricia. Said the bald man. "She simply dreams my dreams."

"I don't get you, Doc."

"Don't you remember? I commanded you to sleep, to dream my dreams."

"Not me, I don't remember a thing—nothing but that horrible spinning fall through the air."

"I concede myself to be something of an artist, Bart. And now you shall see more artistry. I shall wake the young woman. She will awaken in a perfectly normal manner, just as you did. But she will awaken, not as Patricia Shane but as Sylvia La Verry, who disappeared some six years ago and who has recently come to me as a patient, suffering from loss of memory, from amnesia."

"Hum! And she'll really think she is Sylvia La Verry?"

"What she thinks, or whether she thinks at all, we never shall know. The chain between the unconscious and the conscious is a gap which science has never definitely bridged. It seems probable, however, that she may be vaguely conscious of actual events—conscious, for instance, that voices are saying something near her at this moment—just as a sleeper is sometimes conscious of actuality in his sleep. Yet she can neither move nor speak except at my command or by my will."

"Why at your command?"

"Because I commanded her to dream with me, exactly as I commanded you to dream with me. I have released you from this command, but all the others—"

"You mean you can make any of them do whatever you say?"

"Until I wake them—yes."

"Wait a minute, Doc. Let's see you make Queenie rub that bright red grease off her lips. She never will for me."

The bald man smiled, and as he did so Queenie set up.

"I don't want to," she complained, petulantly.

"But you didn't say anything to her, Doc," said Stoman, uneasily.

"Why should I say anything? She follows my will, Bart, whether or not the will is expressed in words." He chuckled. "Wipe it off, Queenie."

The woman grunted, but reached for her handbag, opened it, took out a mirror and a handkerchief, and diligently wiped off her lips.

"They'll tell the truth, too," remarked the bald man, ironically. "Ask her if she dyes her hair."

"But do you?" asked the bald man.

"Yes."

"Ask her how old she is," Bart directed. "I've been trying to find that out for seven years."

"Keep on trying," said the woman, tartly.

"O. no," put in the bald man, quietly. "You'll tell him, Queenie. How old are you?"

She gulped and gasped, "Forty-four."

"Better go back to sleep after that," laughed the bald man, and Queenie closed her eyes.

ALL SIXTEEN
ON BIGOTRY ISSUE*Replies to Letter Sent to Dr.
Work on Kentucky Affair.

Washington, November 1.—(AP)—Henry J. Allen, director of publicity of the republican national committee, in a statement tonight accused Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, of trickery in issuing a statement last night charging that the republicans countenanced the function of religious issues in the campaign.

The Raskob statement, Allen said, "revealed to the country that his appeal for a clean campaign was a mere mask to hide his own mud guns. Whenever he has accused republicans of a trick, it has become a forewarning that the democrats were about to undertake a new and already undertaken that particular trick."

In no instance, Allen said, "has this party been so conspicuously employed as in the case of the democratic chairman in deliberately dragging in the issue of religious intolerance."

Allen's statement continued: "All efforts to link the republican party with the religious issue have failed, because of the refusal of the republican party to countenance the appeal to bigotry, the committee of Raskob has deliberately descended to the Tammany trick of manufacturing evidence for their own use. This is what they did in referring to the recent pretended meeting in New Jersey between Klan leaders and republican leaders, a canard which has been easily traced to the democratic headquarters in Philadelphia."

"While secretly encouraging these plots to cost the religious issue into the republican camp, Raskob has uttered no word of condemnation of the wide use of religious bigotry in his own camp. From the beginning Raskob's obvious effort has been to make the widest use of bigotry in his own campaign while denouncing its premeditated presence in the republican campaign."

"The country will long remember the able mud guns of the Raskob battery—Senators Caraway, Reed, Hunsbrough, Robinson, Blaine, Glass, Bruce, Governor Bilbo and their assistants from private life, Dudley Field Malone, Clarence Darrow, and others. Some of these men were naturally fitted for the work, but others have had to stoop down from a position of eminence to meet the demagogic spirit of the campaign. The Tammany campaign, in its closing hours, has sunk from the sidewalks to the sewers of New York."

CITIZENS RESENT ROBBER CLAIMING VILLAGE AS HOME

Ga. N. C., November 1.—(AP)—The citizens of this little village are much excited because Charlie Patterson yesterday asked federal authorities at Raleigh, N. C., to lock him up because, he said, he had robbed the Cary postoffice. They are not aroused because he robbed the postoffice but because he gave him home address as Ga. N. C.

As soon as the news spread that Patterson said he was from Ga. N. C., a hurried meeting of citizens was called to discuss the matter. Resolutions were adopted calling for the arrest of Patterson and the return of the stolen money to the village.

The statement went on to say that Ga. N. C. has no reason to have one of its citizens arrested and held in custody, needs no jail, collects just enough taxes to keep the highway lighted through the town, "having long since educated our people to the law abiding, democratic, and nobody can rightfully accuse such people of being dishonest, and above all, we teach all to love one another even though he or she be married."

ALLEGED LOTTERY CONDUCTOR HELD
IN $10,000 BAIL

Philadelphia, November 1.—(AP)—William B. Smith, member of the legislature, republican ward leader, and clerk of several city committees, charged with being a partner in a lottery business that took in more than $200,000 a year, surrendered to the police today and was held in $10,000 bail after he waived a hearing.

At the same time 14 policemen, alleged to have taken money to protect those engaged in the lottery, were placed under arrest and all were held in $2,500 bail each after they also had waived hearing.

Testimony concerning the ward leader and the policemen with the lottery was given yesterday before Judge Edwin O. Lewis, who started the grand jury investigation of bootleggers, racketeering and police corruption.

The accused policemen were ordered to report at the district attorney's office today. When they arrived the office was called, then they were marched to the office of the bail clerk of the criminal courts, where bail had already been arranged for by surety companies or relatives.

AUSTRALIAN STRIKE TROUBLE RENEWED WITH VIOLENCE

Melbourne, Australia, November 1.—(AP)—Strike between union waterside workers and volunteers who replaced them in the recent strike broke out with renewed violence today after a period of quiet following the strike settlement.

Volunteers boarding a train here for Port Melbourne were attacked by unionists and several were flung on the railway tracks while others were knocked to the ground and pushed from the station platform. The fight continued while the train was travelling and at the dockside hundreds of unionists confronted the volunteers.

WEST PALM BEACH LINEMAN IS KILLED
BY LIVE WIRE

West Palm Beach, Fla., November 1.—(AP)—K. E. Keen, 24, of New Orleans, was electrocuted here today while working with a repair crew of the Florida Power & Light company. Doctors and nurses worked with the linemen more than three hours before giving up hope of saving his life. Keen was one of several hundred linemen brought into the south Florida hurricane area to aid in restoring electric service.

BURNED GIRL SAYS
SHE HAD A PACT
TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Lake Bluff, Ill., November 1.—(AP)—Miss Elfrida Grace Knaak, whose mysterious burning is under investigation, had a pact with some one whose name she did not disclose, she said tonight when talking to her brother Alvin, as she lay in a hospital bed near death.

"We had a pact," she said, "but the other one did not go through with it. I went through with it alone." Later she added that she "didn't think the other girls would put it over on me."

Although authorities investigating the case, particularly the physicians, are beginning to accept the theory that Miss Knaak burned herself, Alvin and other relatives insist she was the victim of an assassin.

Miss Knaak was burned on her arms, legs and head in a furnace in the basement of the Lake Bluff city hall, and Alvin, after his talk with her tonight, said she was already undertaking that particular trick.

ECKENER DECLARES FOR RAPID DIRIGIBLES

Friedrichshafen, Germany, November 1.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin rested tonight in its home hangar for the first time in many days, while its master, Dr. Hugo Eckener, planned mightier and faster lighter-than-air craft. Eckener, who has been in the trans-Atlantic dirigible; seenger air service will have become a reality.

"This ship is finished for me as far as the regular passenger dirigible is concerned," Dr. Eckener said tonight.

"We must have faster and stronger dirigibles if we want to carry a regular passenger service."

We have shown that the ship and motor are not the problem, but that we must now set about building a constructionally stronger airship."

Dr. Eckener, who consented to discuss his dirigible to the public through most of today, said that had the weather been better on the return trip he might have beaten his own good time of 31 hours and 15 minutes, less than three days by as much as 15 hours.

"Never in my life did I have such luck as this trip," the constructor-pilot said. "Going, I got into the worst weather imaginable and on the return trip from Lakehurst, we found ourselves in the worst weather and other difficulties as to seem almost incredible."

The dirigible's sighting there were cries for its appearance. The crowd manifestly was disappointed when it was learned that the dirigible was on the back door for a conference with the American consul, John E. Kohl.

When he emerged from that, cheering crowds raised him to their shoulders and thereafter wherever he went he was the center of an admiring commotion. Terhune was non-committal as to his intentions, and said he must look through his mail first before he could say what he intended doing.

"I'm not worried about the future, though," he said.

Passengers on the dirigible were unanimous in their enthusiasm for the voyage. The only woman aboard, Mrs. Clara Adams, of Tannerville, Pa., asked to rest with the announcement she was "exhausted," and the Donald Casto, of Columbus, Ohio; Paul Marko, of Brooklyn, and Joseph J. Kelly, of New York, said they had the time of their lives.

"We were so excited last night we stayed up and played cards as we traveled across France," one of them said.

DEMOCRATS INVITE
G. O. P. CHAIRMEN
THROUGH MISTAKE

New York, November 1.—(AP)—A clerical error at democratic national headquarters was responsible for the letters received by several prominent republicans inviting them to a conference with Chairman John J. Raskob here, it was revealed today.

Franklin B. Lord, chairman of the state committee, was one of those invited. In Mr. Raskob's morning mail was Mr. Lord's declination, "with thanks," the central bank said.

The democratic campaign director read the letter and remarked, laughing: "I received a half dozen letters myself inviting me to republican meetings."

Other Hoover supporters who got invitations were George Easton, of Rochester; Louis K. Liggett, of Boston; and Leonard S. Horner, of New Haven.

OF FALSEHOODS, BROOKHART SAYS

Springfield, Ill., November 1.—(AP)—George N. Peek, chairman of the Smith independent organizations committee, charged tonight that Senator Smith was a "purveyor of falsehoods," Brookhart said.

The charge was made in a letter to Senator Smith, who was in Chicago at the time. Senator Smith was also criticized.

"The only prices Hoover ever tried to hold down," Senator Brookhart said, "were the prices of the speculators and the members of the farm and every laboring man in the country indorses this position, as does every sensible man unless he gets his information from George N. Peek. That Peek is efficiently and highly expert in the line of manufacture and distribution of half truths is evidenced by the fact that the democrats have banded him $400,000 for his wares."

Senator Brookhart said Mr. Peek had been discharged as head of an industrial board in the department of commerce, under President Wilson, and the board directed by him of Peek's "vicious policy" of reduction of farm prices. Mr. Peek later was one of the backers of the McNary-Haugen bill, opposed by Senator Reed.

SEN. ROBINSON LAUDS MARSHALL, RALSTON*Calls Sons of Indiana Exponents of Clean, Honest Government.

Fort Wayne, Ind., November 1.—(AP)—The names of Thomas R. Marshall and Samuel Ralston were invoked by Senator Joe T. Robinson tonight to direct the attention of Indiana to clean and honest government.

He described these two sons of Indiana as great leaders whose administrations while governor of this state were "free from graft and suspicion," and declared that the year they held the reins of Indiana politics were "truly periods of rare courage in leadership and constructive action."

Referring to the acceptance speech statement of Herbert Hoover that the last seven and one-half years constituted a period of such leadership and action, Senator Robinson asked: "Have the republican leaders in Indiana the audacity to point with pride to the records in office made by former Governor McCray and Governor Robinson?"

"In national affairs as well, the record of the last seven and one-half years has not been marked by the courage in leadership as has been claimed by Mr. Hoover. It has been shamed by acquiescence for political purposes on the part of the republican party and his cabinet has been steeped in crookedness and graft which disprove the wholesome and courageous leadership."

Because of these things, Senator Robinson said that "thousands of republicans, not only in Indiana, but in every state in the union, are repudiating the leadership of which Mr. Hoover boasts, and will vote the democratic ticket."

"The integrity and ability of the democratic candidate for president are established by a long record of public service and for the past several years possesses outstanding capacity for leadership."

The nominee's speech here closed his Indiana campaign. He is now here after his trip tonight. The senator goes into Ohio for speeches in Lima and Dayton tomorrow.

INSURANCE COMPANIES IN GIANT MERGER

New York, November 1.—(AP)—Merger of the Home Fire Insurance Company and National Liberty Insurance Company of America, Inc., having combined assets in excess of $15,000,000 was authorized today by the directors of the parent corporation.

The National Liberty group consists of the National Liberty Insurance Company of America, the Baltimore American Insurance Company, the New York People's National Fire Insurance Company, The Home group, which heads the new combination, has consisted of the Home, Philadelphia, City of New York Insurance company, New Brunswick Fire Insurance company of New Brunswick, N. J.; Italian Fire Insurance company of Nova Scotia, Carolina Insurance company of Wilmington, N. C.; Harmonia Fire Insurance company, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and the Georgia Home Insurance Company of Columbus, Ga.

The National Liberty Insurance Company of America directors today authorized the declaration of a 300 per cent stock dividend out of its surplus, thereby increasing the capital to $10,000,000 and leaving a surplus of approximately $15,750,000.

Directors of the Baltimore American Insurance company and the New York People's National Fire Insurance company authorized the split of their stocks from $10 to a $5 par value basis, thus placing all three National Liberty group companies on a $5 par basis.

Negotiations for the merger have been in progress for several months between President Charles L. Tyler and Vice President Wilfred Kurth for the Home, and Ralph Jones, chairman of the Philadelphia and Industrial Insurance corporation, and E. M. Rebsheim, vice president of the Philadelphia and Industrial and executive secretary of the National Liberty Insurance company, for the National Liberty.

President Tyler, of the Home, will become president of the combined National Liberty company; President George U. Tompkins, of the National Liberty group, while preferring to be relieved of his active duties, will remain a director of the combined company. The Home Fire Insurance company was organized in 1853 and the National Liberty Insurance company of America in 1859.

Former President William McKinley, who lived here, was praised by Mr. New for his tariff views. He told of the beginning of the tin can industry in Indiana and said there would never have been a tinplate mill in the country "had it not been for the tariff which protected the industry and fostered that projects under the leadership of William McKinley."

Mr. New noted that "the American farmer has suffered many disasters in the last few years, as the result of which his prosperity has not kept in full step with the general advance of the country. He believes that most of this has its origin in causes that cannot possibly be cured by legislation," he said, "but I also believe that he can be materially benefited."

He listed several measures which, he said, the present administration had agreed to by important farm organizations. Among these were the Capper-Volstead cooperative marketing measure, the organization of the federal land bank and the regulation of marketing through the farm futures act.

Havana, Cuba, November 1.—(AP)—General Gerardo Machado y Morales was reelected president of Cuba today in an election in which he was unopposed. There were no political elements in Cuba he was agreed on several months prior to the national elections as the candidate of each of them.

The ballots were still being counted tonight and election officials said indications pointed to an exceedingly heavy vote.

Actual reelection of President Machado will take place in manner similar to that employed by the United States electoral college when the "constitutional" presidential election is held in April. He will be inaugurated at noon, May 20, 1929, for a term of six years. He now is concluding his first term of that period.

Newly Constituted Central Chinese Bank Opened at Shanghai

Shanghai, China, November 1.—(AP)—The newly constituted Central Bank of China was opened today with ceremony in the presence of President Chiang Kai-Shek and other Chinese and many prominent officials.

T. V. Soong, finance minister and governor of the bank, in an address said that the central bank's principal mission was the standardization of the national currency, the creation of a national treasury and stabilization of the money market.

In connection with a stabilization he said that foreign interest and support would be heartily welcome.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES*THOUGHTFUL FARMER
BROWN'S BOY

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

Think of others if you would. Find in life the joy you should. —Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown's Boy is nothing if not thoughtful. He always has his eyes open for his little friends of the Green Forest, the Old Orchard and the Green Meadows. So it was that he spied Happy Jack Squirrel in the Old Orchard. He noticed how "lumpy" and "lumpy" he was, and how he was so fat and so full of life.

"I do believe Happy Jack is looking for a hole in which to make a nest," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "He looks like a squirrel who has been in the Green Forest and come over here. Nuts are pretty scarce this year and I guess Happy Jack has decided that he'll make his nest here. Now, we'll have to find something about it. Yes, sir, we'll have to do something about it."

Farmer Brown's boy waited to see if Happy Jack would be a big nut or a small one. Sometimes does. But that wasn't what Happy Jack was looking for. He was looking for a hole in which to make a nest. He had a hole in the ground, but he couldn't spend the winter in one if it were necessary. But he much preferred to find a hollow tree, or to get inside a hole in a crook of this maple tree. He made no attempt to build a nest.

Then Farmer Brown's boy took a good-sized nut, covered it with tarred paper and stuck it into a hole in the maple tree. He carried the whole thing out to a maple tree in the dooryard. He fastened this box so securely that no wind could shake it down.

"There," said he to Happy Jack, "I have fastened this box so securely that no wind could shake it down. If you are a wise squirrel you'll take possession of it before some other fellow does."

Happy Jack didn't wait for Farmer Brown's boy to get to the barn door. In fact, Farmer Brown's boy had hardly turned his back when Happy Jack was up in that maple tree. First he inspected the new house outside. He went all over it. He looked at the tarred paper and the hole. He didn't like the smell of it particularly well. Then he tried his teeth on it and he didn't like the taste of it. Of course, he didn't understand that that tarred paper was to make his house dry and warm and comfortable.

Then Happy Jack poked his head inside. For some time he sat just looking in. Then he was satisfied just to look around. Then he went in. Once inside, he forgot all about the tarred paper on the outside. That house was just the right size. It was just what he needed.

Up in the crook of this maple tree he fastened this box so securely that no wind could shake it down. It wasn't too big and it wasn't too small. "It's just exactly right!" declared Happy Jack. "I do believe Farmer Brown's boy put it up just for me. It couldn't be better. All I have to do is to make it perfect. I've got a good bed in here, and I'll do that right away. I never had a better home."

Happy Jack wasted no time. He hurried about this way and that way looking for material for his bed, and it wasn't long before he had that house pretty well filled. "My! ex! the Green Forest!" (Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

Erlanger. It is unusual to find a husband and wife so suited artistically that they sing in the same opera company. It is more unusual to find them singing in the same opera company, and in leading roles across from each other. This is the case, however, with Charles Howard and Cecile Sherman (Mrs. Hedley), who are principals with the American Opera company, which comes to open the season at the Erlanger theater, with four modern operas in English, on November 5, 6 and 7. Hedley plays the role of the handsome United States naval officer who loves the little "Butterfly," and the love scenes between husband and wife were warmly applauded in their New York and Chicago seasons. Incidentally, Mr. Hedley was actually a naval lieutenant in the world war and knows accordingly how to wear the uniform of the navy.

Keith's Georgia. Saturday brings to a close the current Keith's Georgia show. The program, an unusually strong one, has for its screen attraction "The Battle of the Sexes," featuring Jean Hersholt, Phyllis Haver, Don Alvarado, Belle Bennett and Sally O'Neil. The picture is a comedy of the personal appearance of Ben Turpin, the cockeyed man of the movies. Monday the Georgia brings "The Gangster's Paradise," a picture of Charles Francis Coe's story of the same name.

Loew's Capitol. One of the most pleasing vaudeville bills of recent weeks, headed by Emily Boreo, is appearing this week at Loew's Capitol theater. Other acts are Valentine Vox and Emily Walters, ventriloquists; Frank Clark and Dannie O'Neil, syncopated songsters; Muriel Gibson, Eva Frisk and the Stewarts, dancing revue, and Boyd and Wallin, wire-walkers. The feature picture is "The Melody of Love."

Howard. Only two more days remains to see Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Paramount's most popular young male star who was featured in "Wings," "Varsity," the Paramount talking picture being shown at the Howard theater this week. Featured in the cast with "Buddy" are Mary Brian and Chester Conklin, all three are heard talking for the first time from the screen. "Varsity" is said to depict life on the campus as it really is. Other subjects on the program include a Vitaphone talking dramatic playlet and a Fox Movietone presentation featuring Clark and McCullough, two big-time comedy stars.

Metropolitan. The drama that is "bigger than the human heart," the William Fox production "The Water Babies," is playing its first return engagement in Atlanta this week at Loew's Grand theater. This is one of the most appealing pictures ever produced.

Loew's Grand. "King of Kings," Cecil B. De Mille's marvelous picture production of the life of Christ, will be shown for the last times today and Saturday. The picture has been hailed by critics, clergy and laymen alike as the greatest screen masterpiece of all time. On the program with "King of Kings" are Al Smith and Herbert Hoover, both to be seen and heard from the talking screen.

Cameo. "The Water Hole" is the first Zee Grey picture in color since "The Wanderer of the Westland." With Jack Holt and Nancy Carroll headlining a good cast, there is color in the photography, in the plot, in the action and in the backgrounds. This is natural color in the important sequences.

Alamo No. 2. A notable cast has been provided for "The Scarlet West," the film thriller which First National is now presenting at the Alamo No. 2 theater. Robert Frazer has the role of the educated Indian who falls in love with the daughter of the commander of a frontier army post during the early days. Clara Bow portrays the daughter.

Empire. Today is laugh day at the Empire theater, with Bebe Daniels furnishing the fun on the screen in her wholesome comedy filled with giggles, "The Fifty-Fifty Girl," while this evening at 8 o'clock an unusually large number of non-professional talents, all the entertainers residing in Atlanta, will compete for three big prizes in an "Amateur Night" contest.

Ponce de Leon. Continuous laughter will greet "Ladies' Night in a Turkish Bath," featuring Dorothy McNeill and Jack Mulhall at the Ponce de Leon theater today.

The Turkish bath incident wherein Jack Mulhall and a friend appear in a Turkish bath on a ladies' night while escaping pursuing policemen is beyond a doubt a source of situation or has ever been presented in a motion picture.

Georgian Missing When Boat Docks at Norfolk, Va. Norfolk, Va., November 1.—(AP)—Sam P. Shumate, a passenger on the Washington steamer District of Columbia, was missing when the steamer docked here today. A letter in his stateroom addressed to his mother, Mrs. T. D. Shumate, R. F. D. 11, Georgetown, Ga., indicated that he had deliberately dropped overboard during the night.

The letter, telling the mother that she would never see him alive again, told of an automobile accident in which Shumate received a broken back as well as other injuries. Shumate was in the naval hospital at Washington, and had run away. He gave a brother's address as W. T. Shumate, Newman, Ga. His Washington address was given as 4807 Georgia avenue.

SUNDAY, MIDNIGHT SHOW TO BE GIVEN
BY LOEW'S CAPITOL*Loew's Capitol theater will present a midnight show Sunday night with "White Shadows in the South Seas"

This picture was made in the South Sea islands by a company sent to that remote section of the world by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. It is one of the most remarkable and most amazing pictures of any kind ever produced. The story is a Ragnell Torres and Monte Blue, and besides showing the actual scenes of beauty in the South Sea islands it contains a vivid and gripping love story of an amazing kind.

At present this picture is being shown in the big theaters in New York at $2 per price, but it will be offered here at regular scale of prices. The show will begin promptly at one minute after midnight Sunday night.

HEAD OF COLONY IS HELD IN BOND MONEY SHORTAGE

Nanaimo, B. C., November 1.—(AP)—E. A. Wilson, Brother XII of the Aquarian foundation, a philosophical cult, was bound over on bond of $5,000 in police court today, to appear at the next supreme court session on a charge of misappropriating $13,000 of the foundation's funds.

Mrs. Mary Connelly, donor of $25,000 to the foundation, a colony located about 7 miles from here, testified at today's hearing. Wilson headed the cult until other members took exception to his establishment of another colony and the promulgation of his views against marriage conventions.

Mrs. Connelly said she gave $25,000 to Wilson for his exclusive use, to be used for carrying on the foundation work under his own personal direction. Whatever he did with the money was all right with her, she explained. Asked why she donated this sum, she replied that she was a member of the cult, and desired that its work should expand.

Mrs. Connelly said the settlement was a place of trouble, for people "in time of great trouble." She gave her address as Reno, Nev., but it is understood she has lived at Asheville, N. C.

With all except a few select seat locations reported sold at the downtown office of Jacobs Pharmacy company, the big midnight frolic presentation at 11 o'clock tonight at the 81 theater of "Frivolities of 1928" promises to be one of the most auspicious occasions of the season.

"Frivolities of 1928" is surely an attractive title promising many surprising revivals. Eddie Lemons, funny comedian, and Olive Lopez, singing and dancing sprites, are featured as leaders of a talented array.

Of course the assemblage of chorus girls, in many changes of attractive costumes, will be a sight and interesting to the audience. In the scene, the drunk dance creations of Taylor and Winstead are given special mention in the announcements.

Slam Brooker, a Broadway dancer, Kiki Hall, Babe Jackson and Willie Olesky are named as principals in support of the two stars. High spots of the program will be "The Apple Blossom Time," "Cottonland," and "Chinese Jazz" numbers.

STUDIO CONSTRUCTION
UNDERGOES CHANGES*Warner Bros.' New Sound-Proof Stage Nears Completion.

How close to a revolution pictures combined with speech and music have wrought in motion picture circles, is indicated by the construction of special stages to register in the new media. Warner Bros., who with Vitaphone, are the pioneers in the new field, have almost completed, at their Hollywood studio, an immense new sound proof stage, fashioned after special designs suggested by their experience in taking talking pictures. The stage, which is a finished foundation will be put down for a second one equally large.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN FLORIDA PREDICTED

A. G. Foster, Former Georgia Senator, Ends Long Speaking Tour.

Albert G. Foster, former state senator, was in Atlanta Thursday en route to his home in Madison, following a three-week stump tour of Florida, where he journeyed from St. Augustine through the heart of the state to Moore Haven and Clewiston, campaigning for the democratic ticket. Mr. Foster expressed himself as being most grateful for the courteous and cordial treatment he was accorded on his tour by the audiences which he addressed, saying that not a single time was he made the victim of any heckling and that not one untoward incident occurred during the whole time he was in the state.

"Florida is a real battleground."

Mr. Foster declared, "but there is without a doubt a decided trend to Governor Smith. People on trains, busses and in hotel lobbies, everywhere, in fact, are talking nothing but politics. It is the all-absorbing topic and never has there been such interest shown in a presidential election."

Having traveled all of Florida during the past three weeks, Mr. Foster declared that he was convinced that the predominant feature of the campaign is religious bigotry and intolerance. "Prohibition is only a smoke screen and a camouflage," he stated. He reported that the best speech he had heard on this subject was delivered at Lakeland, Fla., Monday night by Harris Burrus, formerly of Morgan county, Ga., and now a prominent attorney of Lakeland.

Fletcher at Work.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, senior senator from Florida, is actively at work at the Jacksonville headquarters doing yeoman work for the democratic party, and Mrs. Ruth Brown Owen, daughter of William J. Bryan, has come out in unmistakable terms for Smith and Robinson, Mr. Foster said. Thomas H. Hardwick spoke in Tampa Tuesday night before the greatest political rally ever held in the state, more than 8,000 people being present. Mr. Foster declared. He also stated that Senator Hardwick had told him of a rumor to the effect that a debate was to be arranged between him and Senator Hefflin of Alabama and that Mr. Hardwick said "he was ready."

3 ARKANSAS BOYS WIN TRIPS TO K. C. LIVE STOCK SHOW

Chicago, November 1.—(P)—Three Arkansas boys, prize winners of stock judging contests, have won trips to the Kansas City royal livestock show November 17-24. The three, all members of 4-H clubs, are Onus Royer of Lead Hill, Ark.; J. J. Bryan, of Harrison, and Harold Roberts, of Baldwin.

AGED CONFEDERATE VETERAN TO VOTE FOR GOV. AL SMITH

F. M. Farley, 90, a retired banker and merchant, will leave his home at 1333 Peachtree street Tuesday and make his first trip downtown in almost a year, for the purpose of casting his vote for Alfred E. Smith, Mr. Farley, a Confederate veteran, born in Florida of Virginia parents, stated that he would remain true to the traditions of the south and that to turn from the democratic party would be to destroy the south's only means of political expression.

He has been a staunch democrat for many years, casting his first vote a year before the civil war. He, along with many others, was disfranchised at the close of the war, and he says that no one who witnessed those days of republican administration will ever be able to cast a vote for that party.

ATLANTA POLICE OFFICERS GIVEN NEW ASSIGNMENTS

In the annual realignment of the Atlanta police department, eight officers and sixteen patrolmen were transferred to different watches, it was announced Thursday by Chief of Police James L. Beavers.

In announcing the changes, Chief Beavers stated that the shift in no sense constituted a shakeup that would reflect the efficiency of the department, but was a usual custom. The officers are shifted every three months and a majority of the other changes were made at the request of the patrolmen.

Captain G. C. Fain, Lieutenant J. A. Scott, T. D. Sturdivant and R. J. Brown were shifted from the morning to the evening watch. Captain J. L. Gordon, Lieutenant E. C. Hudson, S. J. Roberts and E. E. Calloway were changed from the evening to the morning watch.

SEN. BLEASE SPEAKS IN ATHENS SATURDAY

South Carolinian To Be Introduced at Rally by Congressman C. H. Brand.

United States Senator Cole Blaise, of South Carolina, will address a large democratic rally at Athens at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Colonial theater. Senator Blaise will be introduced by Congressman Charles H. Brand.

John B. Gamble will preside and will introduce T. S. Mell, a brother of John D. Mell, moderator of the Georgia Baptist convention. There will be several other local speakers. The Athens managers have received requests for reservations from delegations of democrats from Oconee, Crawford, Barrow, Madison, Hall and Walton counties, it was announced.

Senator Blaise is a forceful and spectacular orator of the old school and the Athens managers intend to have an old-fashioned, hot and spicy democratic rally.

It is expected that a large crowd will assemble at the Colonial theater, which will include, besides the visiting delegations, a group of students from the University of Georgia and the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Notice of the capture in Clinton, Iowa, of J. J. Higgins, escaped Georgia convict, was received Thursday by the state prison commission. Higgins was convicted in Bibb county in 1925 on forgery charges and was serving a sentence of from 17 to 24 years.

A. A. Maples, Mitchell county deputy warden, left Thursday for the Iowa city to bring the prisoner back to Georgia.

TURPIN TO APPEAR AT LEGION POST LUNCHEON TODAY

Ben Turpin, the famous cross-eyed movie comedian, will head the attractive entertainment program which has been arranged by Tuck Upshaw for the weekly luncheon of the Atlanta post of the American Legion which will be held at the Henry Grady hotel at 12:30 o'clock today. An excellent orchestra also will be on hand, as well as Harry Anger and Mary Fair, who, together with Mr. Turpin, are appearing at the Georgia this week.

With such entertainment in store, an unusually large attendance is expected by post officials.

RADIOING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Old and new popular selections will be featured by the Armstrong Quakers during the program to be broadcast through WSB and N. B. C. system at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Keith McLeod's "Southern Skies" will be presented by the chorus of eight mixed voices and orchestra; Willard Robinson's "We'll Have a New Home in the Morning" from the musical comedy success, "Take the Air," will be done by the male quartet, and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" will be heard as a choral number.

The Quaker Girl sings "Blue Room" from the Rodgers and Hart show, "The Girl Friend," as a soprano solo, accompanied by the orchestra, and later in the program the girls' quartet, led by the Quaker Girl, will present "Sleep, Baby, Sleep."

Instrumental selections include "Rosa," by the string orchestra, and "Valde Vanitie," a saxophone solo. The half-hour program will be closed with the "Blue Shadows" number from Earl Carroll's "Vanities," done by chorus and orchestra.

The complete program for this broadcast follows: In a Little Two-by-Four, Southern Skies, McLeod. Chorus. Blue Room, Rodgers and Hart. Soprano Solo, Quaker Girl. We'll Have a New Home in the Morning, Robinson. Male Quartet. Somewhere a Voice is Calling, Chorus and Orchestra. Valde Vanitie, Wiedorf. Sleep, Baby, Sleep, Tucker. Quaker Girl with Girls' Quartet. Blue Shadows, Vanities. Alter. Chorus.

Tom Thumb, the Clown Elephant, will be the feature of the stories told by Uncle Bob during the Dixie circus program to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Tom Thumb, the famous dwarf circus performer, was a law-abiding citizen throughout his life, but his name, the Clown Elephant, was consistently a "bad actor." This mischievous disposition led the beast into many strange escapades—some humorous and some tragic—and it is one of these that Uncle Bob Sherwood will discuss in his colorful style.

The musical program is as follows: The Thunder, Sousa. Carry Over, Patton. Co-Co-Cha-Lunk, Callippe. On Horseback, Bendix. Ching-a-Ling, Circus Band. Master Trombone, Davis. Princes of the Jungle, Clark. Funnel-Funnel, Callippe. The Victrola March, Ethel. Circus Band.

"Silas Perkins' Wedding," a descriptive composition of a crossroads showdown, will be played by the Interwoven Entertainers during the program to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system at 7 o'clock tonight.

"Echoes of the Mississippi," a schottische by Morrison; "Eleonora," a gavotte by Malloch, and a medley of Virginia reels will be other orchestral numbers.

The versatile Pickard family, famous for their interpretation of American folk songs, will sing "My

FANNER & BEANE.
New York, November 1.—(Special).—Today's market opened stronger on a wave of buying orders influenced by the strength of the market toward last night's closing. The market showed a definite trend except in special issues. Victor Talking Machine continued its recovery from the low prices of yesterday and still seems worth buying.

Halfway electrification on a large scale should be made in the near future. The railroad industry is now in a position to handle a substantial extension of the company's electric power. LIVINGSTON AND CO.
New York, November 1.—(Special).—After a period of extreme dullness in the early afternoon there was a slow but steady improvement in both market and stock prices. The market has been a very active recovery today when it became evident that the worst of the month-end slump had been passed.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

SANTIAGO, THE PORT WHICH CERVERA'S SPANISH FLEET ENTERED ON MAY 19, 1898, LIES ON THE EAST COAST OF CUBA AND IS THE CAPITAL OF SANTIAGO PROVINCE. IT IS SITUATED AT THE HEAD OF A LAND-LOCKED BAY WHICH EXTENDS INLAND ABOUT FIVE MILES.

THE CHANNEL LEADING INTO THE HARBOR RUNS BETWEEN TWO JUTTING, ROCKY HEADLANDS, AND IN PLACES IS BUT 350 FEET WIDE. THIS CHANNEL WAS PROTECTED BY MINES AND TORPEDOES AND COMMANDED BY THE GUNS OF SEVEN SPANISH BATTERIES.

The Story of Our War With Spain.
Harbor Defenses of Santiago.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE EAST SIDE OF THE ENTRANCE WAS GUARDED BY MORRO CASTLE, AN OLD FORTRESS-PRISON PERCHED ON A ROCKY CLIFF 260 FEET ABOVE THE SEA. MOST OF THE SPANISH GUNS WERE OF OBSOLETE DESIGN, ALTHOUGH IN ONE OF THE BATTERIES, THE PUNTA GORDA, A NUMBER OF MODERN KRUPP GUNS HAD BEEN RECENTLY PLANTED.

BEFORE THE NARROW HARBOR MOUTH IN A GREAT HALF-CIRCLE, ITS ENDS TWO MILES OFFSHORE, LAY THE GRIM, BRISTLING WARSHIPS OF THE AMERICAN BLOCKADING FLEET, READY TO POUNCE UPON ANY CRAFT THAT DARED TO COME OUT.

TOMORROW—PLANS TO "BOTTLE UP" THE SPANISH FLEET.
